Russia Claims Demands Acknowledged

Agreement on Reparations Vital for German Treaty

By R. H. Shackford

MOSCOW, April 12-(BUP) —Andrei Vishinsky of Russia claimed today that Gen. George C. Marshall, by advancing a compromise offer, had acknowledged the Soviet Union's right to reparations from current production in Germany—"just what we have been fighting for."

VISHINSKY, Soviet deputy foreign minister, blamed the failure of the east and west to reconcile their major differences on lack of understanding and lack of common wishes.

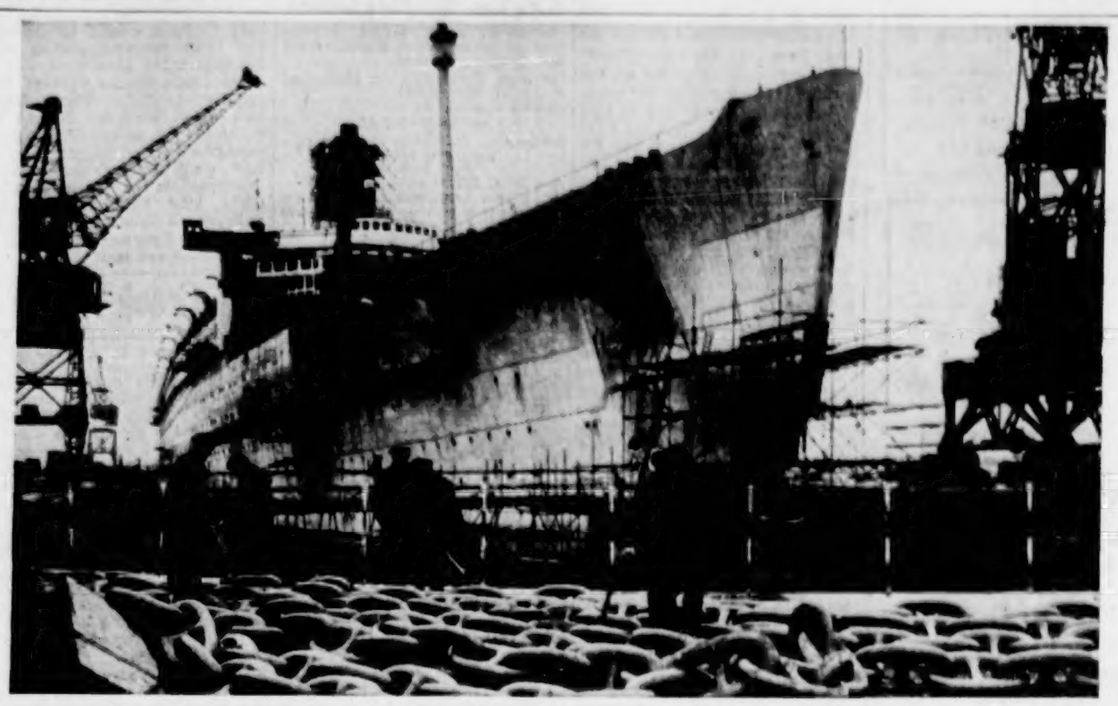

The expression of the Soviet attitude came at the end of the fifth week of debate by the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers.

Vishinsky held a press conference, noteworthy for his deftness at parrying questions and for an impassioned defence of British policy in Germany by a reporter for the London Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party.

VISHINSKY contended that Marshall's compromise offer for limited reparations from Germany's current production admitted the principle for which the Soviets were fighting. Reparations were a basic issue in the drafting of the German treaty, and disagreement on that issue was largely responsible for the skimpy achievements of the conference.

"A German treaty without adequate reparations for the Soviet

Alberta to Build New South Road

CARDSTON, Alta., April 12—(CP)—The Alberta government plans to build a new highway between Lethbridge and Waterton Lakes National Park through Magrath, Spring Coulee and Cardston, Works Minister W. A. Fallow told a joint meeting of the Cardston board of trade and junior chamber of commerce here.

HE SAID that the highway from Lethbridge to Cardston would be of the best all-weather construction and it was expected to be partly completed by next freeze-up. If materials and manpower are available the Cardston-Waterton Park extension of the highway will also be undertaken this year.

Explaining that the provincial government has the money for building the highway, he assured that it would be proceeded with this year. Little of the present grade will be used for the new highway, which will clip six miles from the highway distance from Lethbridge to Cardston.

THE DISTANCE from Lethbridge to Cardston over the present highway is 66 miles, and from Cardston to Waterton Lakes National Park 34 miles.

"We want this road to be a credit to the government, the district and those responsible for its building," he said.

Rivers On Spring Rampage

Scores Flee Homes In Ontario Floods

TORONTO, April 12 —(CP)— Scores of residents fled their homes in widely-scattered areas of Ontario today as rampaging rivers roared over their banks. The worst flood since 1929 swept through the city of Galt and at Owen Sound gangs of men worked feverishly with sandbags to move the mill dam on the Sydenham river.

COMMUNITIES along the Grand River Valley, including the cities of Galt and Brantford, were threatened by water racing at 18,000 cubic feet per second from Belwood Lake. Waters of the lake, piled up behind the Shand dam, were released to relieve the strain on the dam, taxed to the limit by its weight of water from heavy rains and melted snow.

At 11 a.m. the Grand River was rising slightly at Galt but was believed near its peak level which would likely continue for some hours as the great rush of water surged on its way to Lake Erie.

OTHER ONTARIO flood spots were at Ottawa, where 75 flood-threatened families were evacuated from their homes, at Pembroke, northwest of the capital, and at Meaford on Georgian Bay where the Big Head river did heavy damage.

Damage at Galt was estimated by officials at thousands of dollars as the Belwood Lake flood burst down the Grand River waterway. Cellars of all Riverside buildings there were inundated and furnace fires extinguished as the water coursed down Water Street from the dam to well south of the city, marooning a car on highway 24 so only its top was visible.

Ice Leaves River

The ice on the North Saskatchewan river at Edmonton went out at 4 a.m. Saturday, according to officials at the power house.

Last year the ice went at 3.37 p.m. April 11, and in 1945 the break-up did not take place until eight days later, April 19.

Prepare Session On Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, April 12 (AP) —Preparations for a special Palestine session of the United Nations general assembly were rushed today and officials said the meeting probably would open in New York City April 28.

Final approval of the British request for the session was expected momentarily.

INFORMED QUARTERS said special security precautions were being planned in view of the highly controversial nature of the Palestine question and the intense interest in it in New York.

One complication which gave the secretariat concern was the telephone strike, which posed a problem over how to re-install the system at Flushing Meadows which was dismantled after the last regular session adjourned Dec. 16.

Typhoid Quelled At Yellowknife

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T., April 12 (CP)—Dr. O. L. Stanton, medical health officer here said yesterday the outbreak of typhoid fever in the Yellowknife area was under control and that no epidemic is expected.

HE SAID A SMALL outbreak had occurred in the area about a month ago and that James Orlick, 22, of Millet, Alta., died as a result of the disease March 16.

Three other victims, Mrs. W. C. Brocklebank, Oliver Patrie and Mrs. Buck Thompson, all of Yellowknife, have been hospitalized and are recovering. Two of them are expected to be released from hospital shortly.

Orlick was an employe of a local mine and following the outbreak about 2,000 residents were vaccinated as a preventative.

DR. STANTON said a small emergency isolation hospital has been established and equipped to handle any further cases. He added that people contemplating on coming to the district should be vaccinated before arrival, if possible.

But No Faith in Vaunted V-Weapons

Reveal Hitler Had Great Fear of Superforts

FRANKFURT, April 12 — (AP) — Adolf Hitler had a terrible fear of the American B-29 superfortress bomber in the last months of the war and an amazing lack of faith in his own V-weapons, charred records of his secret staff conferences showed today.

The partly burned stenographic transcripts of his wartime conferences, captured by the United States Army and released here, disclosed Hitler told Herman Goering and members of the army general staff Jan. 10, 1945:

"Things are such that the American B-29 is in action. The Japanese see them already. I feel a great danger, and one cannot weigh this danger too lightly. The B-29 bomber can be Germany's destruction. These deadly machines will make their appearance here."

The B-29 never appeared in Europe during the war, but Hitler's repeated references to them showed he feared them perhaps even more than approaching Allied armies.

"Even now," he told Luftwaffe Chief Goering, blasting the fat field marshal for fiddling around with construction of out-of-date fighter planes, "the enemy planes come like a parade, and when the big ones come, German planes will literally enter a hailstorm of fire."

As for the V-1 and V-2 weapons, which Goebbels promised the German people would turn the tide of the war for them, Hitler had different ideas when he spoke secretly to his generals.

On the same day he was so worried about the appearance of the B-29 he said:

"I am sorry to say that the V-weapons cannot decide the war."

The same month, January, 1945, when the Allies were in Antwerp, an extract from a burned situation quoted Hitler as saying:

"Yesterday I gave out orders that 50 Messerschmitt carry 500 kilogram bombs. I simply must be able to drop them on Antwerp. We cannot rely on the V-1 or V-2 shelling."

The fuehrer was incredulous when Gen. Alfred Jodl told him a V-2 missile had hit the Rex movie house in Antwerp Dec. 17, 1944 killing 1,100 persons. His comment was:

"That must have been the first successful hit with a V-2. It is so miraculous, I am skeptical and I cannot believe it."

Report Many Rebel Troops Refuse Battle

(From BUP and AP Dispatches)

ATHENS, April 12 —Greek troops slogging ahead in torrential rains today occupied 10 villages in their campaign against guerilla forces in the mountains of northwest Thessaly.

The main push took place on the northern sector of the front. Official reports said the guerillas were refusing to fight, and when possible withdrawing deeper into the mountains.

Army authorities claimed they found on recently captured guerillas an order that all wounded unable to move with the retreating bands should be shot to keep them from giving information if captured.

THE GREEK GENERAL staff said that the Pindus mountain guerilla area encircled by government forces had been reduced from about 1,350 square miles to about 175 square miles.

Some 15,000 troops were closing in on about 2,500 surrounded guerillas in the Thessaly area, government reports said, while police moved against similar fighters in Macedonia.

Report Refugees Nearing Palestine

JERUSALEM, April 12—(AP)—It was reported without official confirmation last night that an immigrant ship with 2,200 uncertified Jewish refugees aboard was approaching Palestine waters.

Private sources said the ship was one of the largest yet to try to run the tight immigration blockade. It picked up its cargo of Jews from shuttle boats at rendezvous in the Mediterranean off various European ports.

GOVERNMENT sources declined to comment on the report, but one spokesman said that shiploads of Jews trying to enter Palestine without legal permission "will be coming by the dozens now."

Seek New Peace Formula

Negotiations to End Phone Strike Failure

By Charles H. Herrold

WASHINGTON April 12 —(BUP)— Formal negotiations to end the nation-wide telephone strike all but collapsed today and federal mediators searched desperately for a new peace formula in the six-day old walkout.

LAST SLENDER hopes of an immediate settlement faded last night when the long distance affiliate of the striking telephone union ignored a midnight deadline on a "final' ofer by the company

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. immediately withdrew its offer, declaring the next step was up to the American Federation of Telephone Workers. The union said it had no plans to request a renewal of negotiations.

Despite the stalemate, possibility of an early White House intervention seemed slim.

While the national picture remained clouded, local settlements were reached in two widely separated sections of the country. The Sherman, Tex., Telephone Co. renewed its union contract and 4,000 members of the Independent State Telephone Union ended their upstate New York walkout.

FOR THE MOST part, local negotiations were no more fruitful than the conferences in Washington. Four unions representing 35,000 workers in New York, Long Island and Westchester county said they would not take part in further mediation until the company made a "firm offer."

Newsmen Will See British Atom Plant

LONDON, April 12—Reuters)—Within a few days the government is expected to approve a plan to allow correspondents to visit the principal British atomic station at Harvell, Berkshire, well-informed sources said yesterday. The visit, to take place within the next two months, is likely to be followed by visits to two other British atomic towns—Risley, near Warrington, and Clifton-with-Salwick, near Preston.. Both towns are in Lancashire. The plan would show the correspondents progress made in Britain in the release of atomic energy for industrial purposes.

Woodward Buries Tornado Victims

WOODWARD, Okla., April 12—(BUP) — Ravaged Woodward, where 83 of the 146 Texas-Oklahoma tornado victims died, sealed itself off from the curious today and began burying its dead.

Fifteen funerals were scheduled today. Others will be held on Sunday. The four major churches have cancelled Sunday school and regular Sunday services.

ROAD BLOCKS were set up to prevent motorists from coming into the area until the debris is cleared from the streets. The blocks will remain up Sunday.

Grave diggers set to work to enlarge the municipal cemetery. Additional acreage on the cemetery's outskirts was condemned by the city council because the cemetery was too small for the interrment of the tornado victims.

Boys Save Four As Vessel Mined

FLUSHING, Holland, April 12 —(Reuters)—Two youths — a Dutch farmer's boy and a cabin boy — today rescued four injured survivors from the 824-ton British steamship Viceroy, which was reported to have sunk after striking a mine off the coast of Holland. Eight persons and a Belgian pilot are missing. The boys manned a small boat and went out to the scene of the disaster. The four men they rescued were brought to Flushing by a Swedish ship.

Wallace Again Hits Policy

Charges U.S. Heading To "Mad Imperialism"

By Edward V. Roberts

MANCHESTER, April 12 —(BUP)— Henry A. Wallace, speaking on the second anniversary of the death of President Roosevelt, charged today that American policy is slipping into the hands of men who seek to embark the United States "on a wild and mad nightmare" of "ruthless imperialism."

WALLACE, addressing 5,000 trade unionists in the second appearance of his European crusade against President Truman's foreign policy, charged that the American government is controlled by men who believe that the United Nations are doomed to failure and that war with Russia is virtually inevitable.

A program of American imperialism, he said, was a dangerous venture because "Americans will never carry the program through. Americans will never pay the cost and they cannot pay the cost."

"Today the government and congress are controlled by men who believe that in a world in which communism and capitalism live side by side there is little hope of peace," Wallace told 5,000 trade unionists.

"THEY BELIEVE that Fascism and Communism are similar evils and that the United Nations is doomed to failure. They believe

Discover Bound Body of Trapper

WAVELL, Ont., April 12—(CP) —Trussed up with leather thongs and a dog chain, the body of Robert Todd, 78-year-old trapper and prospector, has been found under the floor boards of his log shack half a mile from this Timiskaming district village 26 miles northwest of Kirkland Lake, police said today.

CONSTABLE GERRY Lynch of the Ontario Provincial Police, stationed at nearby Matheson, said it appeared Todd had been killed by someone who stole his $28 old age pension money.

Todd, commonly known in this Northern Ontario gold mining district as Bob Hill, had cashed his pension cheque at a store here March 4, the last day he was seen alive.

Simplicity Marks Rites For Primate

By WILLIAM BOSS

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Summoning all the simple dignity and brief eloquence of the Anglican ritual, Toronto today prepared for the funeral service and burial of her beloved archbishop, Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, primate of the Church of England in Canada.

Archbishop Owen died suddenly Wednesday after a heart seizure. He was 70 years of age.

ALL AFTERNOON and evening yesterday, and again today from 9 a.m. to noon, the body lay in state in the chancel in his cathedral church of St. James. In an unadorned casket of episcopal purple, and attired in the robes and symbols of his office, it had been revered by thousands who filed silently through the English gothic structure and up into its flower-banked chancel to pay their last respects.

Presided over by the church's senior metropolitan — Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Archbishop of Kootenay—and attended by representatives of the principal protestant faiths in the Dominion and those of Crown and state, today's rites were to be simple.

Says Chandler's Order "Unfair"

Hubby Was Wronged Claims Laraine Day

LOS ANGELES, April 12 —(AP)—Laraine Day, winsome and—for a change—chatty with the press, returned Friday from the east to charge that her Leo had been wronged.

LARAINE DAY

HUSBAND (everywhere but in California) Leo Durocher is under suspension for the 1947 season from his job as manager of Brooklyn's Dodgers, outgrowth of a dispute involving the Dodgers and New York Yankees.

Miss Day, stepping from a plane from New York, called Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler's suspension "terribly unfair."

"Leo," she added, "was condemned without a hearing and denied the right of appeal."

Leo himself, as one of the principals, is under a Chandler order of silence about the matter. The garrulous, umpire-baiting pilot, however, told his side at hearings before Chandler prior to the latter's edict.

ASKED IF LEO'S CURRENT difficulties had changed things between them, she replied:

"People just don't fall in and out of love in a hurry."

Predict Death Drawing Near For Gen. Chiang

By WALTER LOGAN

NANKING, April 12—(BUP) —This may prove hard for westerners to understand, but a wave of concern was sweeping China's little people today because Nanking's soothsayers were predicting that death is near for Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek.

The prediction of the soothsayers gained wide belief among the ordinary Chinese man-in-the-street, the ricksha pullers, the small merchants and the low-paid government clerks.

So far there have been no unusual activities because of this conviction except for the fact that every conversation among the Chinese ends with the phrase:

"What will happen when he goes?"

Generally it's agreed it will mean chaos — and probably many bitter years before China again will be on the road to national unity and strength.

Pulp Workers Sign Contract in B.C.

VANCOUVER, April 12.—(CP)— Representatives of more than 4,000 pulp and paper mill workers in British Columbia, Friday signed a new contract with the management of four mills, assuring at least the present supply of newsprint for the next year. The contract is effective May 1.

IT PROVIDES a 12 per cent increase in all hourly rates with a minimum increase of 12 cents an hour, an increase in the night shift differential and overtime provisions. The 44-hour work week will be continued through the present contract.

The mills signing were the Powell River Company, Pacific Mills, B.C. Pulp and Paper Co., and Sorg Pulp Co. The men are members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers. Both are affiliates of the AFL.

Suggests Ban On Closed Shop

Proposed U.S. Code Would Curb Unions

WASHINGTON, April 12 —(AP)— The House of Representatives labor committee approved Friday a far-reaching new bill to trim union powers and curb strikes.

THE MEASURE would outlaw the closed shop and, with some exceptions, ban collective bargaining on an industry-wide basis. It would permit the union shop if both employers and employes want it.

The closed shop requires a company to hire only union workers. The union shop lets it hire anyone it pleases, but the new employe must join the union shortly afterward.

Far stiffer than a labor bill now under consideration by the Senate labor committee, the house measure lists a whole new set of labor practices that would be branded "unfair" practices of both employers and employes.

Among other things, it would: forbid political contributions by unions, guarantee the employer the right of free speech on labor matters, make unions subject to law suits for violating contracts, take the conciliation service away from the labor department and make it independent, abolish the

Two Children Die In Chisholm Fire

Fire claimed the lives of two children at Chisholm Friday afternoon according to RCMP. Another child, and the mother of the children, are in hospital suffering from burns.

Dead are; four-year-old Ralph Ward and his 22-months-old sister Lorraine. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ward who reside near Chisholm.

The children were playing in the wash house adjoining their home. A fire had been lit to heat water. Police said it was thought the children knocked over a four-gallon can of gasoline which was also in the wash house.

Mrs. Ward was burned when she rushed into the building and dragged three-year-old Francis to safety. She succeeded in getting Lorraine out but the youngster died later on the way to hospital.

The coroner stated no inquest will be held. Mr. Ward is employed at the Chisholm sawmills.

VICTORIA, April 12 — (CP) — Banks and business firms are faced with a labor shortage due to working wives quitting their jobs on grounds they are not able to contribute anything worthwhile toward their husband's earnings under the new income tax scheme, an official of the National Employment Office said here yesterday. Several working wives advised the employment office they intended to leave their jobs as soon as they had earned $250 which was untaxable. U.S. Bases on Newfoundland Might Be Barrier to Union

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, April 12 —(CP)— Political observers speculating on matters which may be broached when a delegation from Newfoundland comes here to discuss possible terms of union with Canada, believe that existence of United States bases on the island may prove to be one of the problems most difficult to solve.

THE UNITED STATES has 99-year-leases on bases at St. John's Argentina and Stephenville. And within recent months American officials have said their government has no intention of giving up the bases, ceded in the early war years.

Canada would not want to take action that would strain relations with the United States. Yet the Canadian government might be open to widespread criticism if it allowed United States to hold leases in a Newfoundland that became a part of Canada.

The observers point to the steps the government has taken to retain control of bases in Canada's northland in which the United States is vitally interested.

United States spent an estimated $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 on the construction of the Newfoundland bases. While Canada might be prepared to pay this amount to obtain control of them there is no indication that the Americans would make the transfer.

THERE LIKELY would be discussions with the United States government on the question of the bases before any definite action on the confederation issue is tackled.

No date has yet been fixed for the visit of the Newfoundland delegation to Canada. Government officials have said that the meeting with the delegation will merely constitute an exchange of views.

The delegation will report back to the Newfoundland national convention, elected last year to recommend a future form of government for the island now governed by a commission government, made up of three representatives of the United Kingdom and three Newfoundlanders.

The recommendation of the convention will be forwarded to the Dominion's office in London which will decide whether the recommendation should be submitted to the Newfoundland people for approval.

ST. JOHN'S, April 12 (CP)—By a vote of 34-3 the Newfoundland national convention yesterday rejected a motion to send a delegation to Washington to ascertain under what conditions the island colony might reach federal union with the United States.

Labor Code

present National Labor Relations Board and set up a new one confined primarily to holding hearings on charges of unfair labor practices.

A UNION would be forbidden to bargain for a contract covering an entire industry when the individual companies in it compete with each other. But it would be allowed to seek a contract covering an entire industry in which the individual companies do not compete.

The bill also would: Outlaw various kind of strikes, like jurisdictional tie-ups. For the most part these are brought on by disputes between two unions over the right to do a certain job.

Forbid secondary boycotts, in which employes refuse to handle the products or supplies of a company with which they have no direct squabble but with which some other union does.

Make mass picketing and violence on picket lines illegal.

B A N "FEATHERBEDDING" strikes to make an employer hire or pay for more employes than he needs or pay assessments to a union. Members said this is aimed partly at James C. Petrillo and the Musicians Union (AFL).

Another accepted provision would take bargaining privileges from a union which has a Communist or Communist sympathizer as an officer, or anybody who "can reasonably be regarded" as one.

Reparations

Union would be like a man without a heart," Vishinsky said.

That was his answer to a question whether the Soviets would agree to a treaty not fulfilling their demand for $10,000,000,000 worth of reparations.

ASKED WHETHER he agreed with Marshall's recent definition of democracy, emphasizing the "inalienable rights of human beings," Vishinsky said:

"The first and most important definition of democracy is that democracy is a struggle against fascism and not an encouragement of fascism."

Vishinsky had a ready answer when he was asked about Marshall's proposal to allow Germany's current production so long as reparations did not exceed amounts which otherwise would have been taken from Germany through plant removals.

"I KNOW ONLY what Mr. Marshall said, and not what is in his mind," he said. "What does it mean? This proposal admits our rights to reparations from current production.

"This concerns this right of ours which was provided for at Yalta and Potsdam. This admits that even with the reservations Mr. Marshall approves of what we have been fighting for.

"Thus our proposal meets the approval of Mr. Marshall and that means progress for us and for this conference."

in using the American power to organize the world against the USSR."

Wallace attacked an article in the magazine Life which advocated establishment of an "American empire."

"I'm utterly opposed to this policy of imperialism," he said.

LONDON, April 12. — (AP) — Front page headlines and leading editorials were devoted by British newspapers today to Henry A. Wallace's appeal for Great Britain to exert moral leadership in an effort to avert a "death struggle" between the United States and Russia.

THE TIMES SAID "There can be no quarrel with Mr. Wallace's theme" — expressed in a speech last night at London's central Hall —"that it is the duty of the democratic countries to offer the world not merely the hope of personal freedom but that constructive program of social advance which is essential to its attainment and preservation."

B.C. Marine Strike Likely to Spread

VICTORIA, April 12—(CP)—Shipyard labor troubles today threatened to spread to Vancouver as Canadian Congress of Labor Union members held Yarrows Ltd., shipyards here strikebound for the third day.

THREAT OF strike action "if necessary" against Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., North Vancouver Shipyards, was issued by Boilermakers' Union (CCL) last night in support of union members striking at Yarrows. The executive was given power to call the strike.

The union also voted to immediately stop all overtime and piecework at the North Vancouver yard until Yarrows, owned by Burrard Dry Dock interests, settled with the CCL union here.

The CCL's marine workers, machinists and Boilermakers' Industrial Union, local No. 3—who established the picket line Thursday—received additional support last night. The International Woodworkers of America, CIO-CCL), local 1-118, votel to halt delivery of lumber to Yarrows "until such time as the demands of the strikers are met."

Greek War

the first press conference held since the government began its Thessaly offensive Wednesday, said that the aim of the drive in the southern Pindus mountains was to block off the surrounded region into four parts and wipe out resistance elements in each.

HE REPORTED losses so far had amounted only to 30 or 32 guerillas and two regular soldiers killed and 25 guerillas captured. Leaflets dropped by plane, he said, promise the guerillas safe conduct to civilian courts, where a policy of "qualified amnesty" will be obtained.

The conservative Athens newspaper Embros reported attacks by about 350 leftists on Anavryta southwest of Sparata, where four rightists were said to have been killed, and by some 400 leftists on an army post at Rapsane about 20 miles north of Larisa, where 12 guerillas died.

Canada Prepared Send Troops Abroad

WINNIPEG, April 12.—(CP)—Canada is prepared to send troops overseas to take part in an international peace force, should one be established, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton said here today. He is in Winnipeg in the course of a tour of Western Canada.

Churchill Not Coming To Canada

VANCOUVER, April 12 (CP)—Word was received here Friday from Winston Churchill's secretary that Britain's war-time prime minister is not coming to Canada. "Mr. Churchill has no plans for making such a trip this summer or later," said the secretary. "All the rumors are incorrect." Mr. Churchill had been sent an invitation by Mayor G. G. McGeer to visit Vancouver "while on his Canadian trip."

Economic Crisis Seen in Canada

VANCOUVER, April 11.—(CP)—The first task of a CCF administration in Canada would be the swift removal of the major sources of wealth production from private hands, Colin Cameron, provincial president, told the opening session of the CCF, British Columbia-Yukon section, convention here today.

"OUR WHOLE PROGRAM of social services and economic extension rests on that first bold revolutionary bid," he said. "If we present effectively the case for sane and intelligent revolutionary progress through use of democratic procedure and institutions, we can hope in Canada to lay foundations of that free classless society which is the goal of all socialist aspirations."

He forecast that within the next two years that it "is more than likely we shall face an economic crisis even more severe than that through which we passed before the war."

Military Advised Move to Edmonton

CALGARY, April 12 (CP)— Edmonton was selected as western command headquarters for military reasons and on military advice, Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of national defence, told a representative gathering of Calgary citizens at a dinner here last night sponsored by the board of trade. It was decided by the defence ministry that Edmonton would be the ideal location for Western Air Command headquarters because of easy accessibility to the Alaska Highway, the North-West Staging Route and the whole Yukon Territory, which had not previously been covered in defence plans. Because of the importance of combined operations it was only logical to have an army command also centred in Edmonton.

"Zip Gun" Fatality

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—One of three boys injured by bullets from "zip-guns" in Harlem Thursday night died Friday in hospital. The dead youth, Max Davis, 15, (Negro) suffered a wound in the back. Two other boys—Rafael Jartirriz, 16, and Robert Rodriquez, 14—were wounded. Police said the injuries apparently were the result of rivalry between gangs of youths.

Test Vote Nears On Aid Program

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Senator James Eastland (Dem.-Miss.) called yesterday for resistance to communism "on every front in the world" as the United States Senate headed to a test vote on the $400,000,000 program for Greece and Turkey.

THE ACTIVITIES of Henry A. Wallace abroad also entered the debate. Eastland declared that Wallace has tried "to induce the friends and allies of this country to desert her." Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Fla.) defended Wallace.

The test vote was passed by a motion of Senator Edwin C. Johnson (Dem.-Colo.) to strip the aid to Turkey from the bill, leaving only the aid to Greece. Johnson called Turkey "a Fascist military dictatorship" and said the proposed American assistance to that country implies a "military alliance."

This was the first amendment by a foe of the bill to reach the voting stage. Several amendments by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.) on behalf of the foreign relations committee, which he heads, were quickly adopted on voice votes Thursday.

"Defeatist Stand" Cuts Hog Output

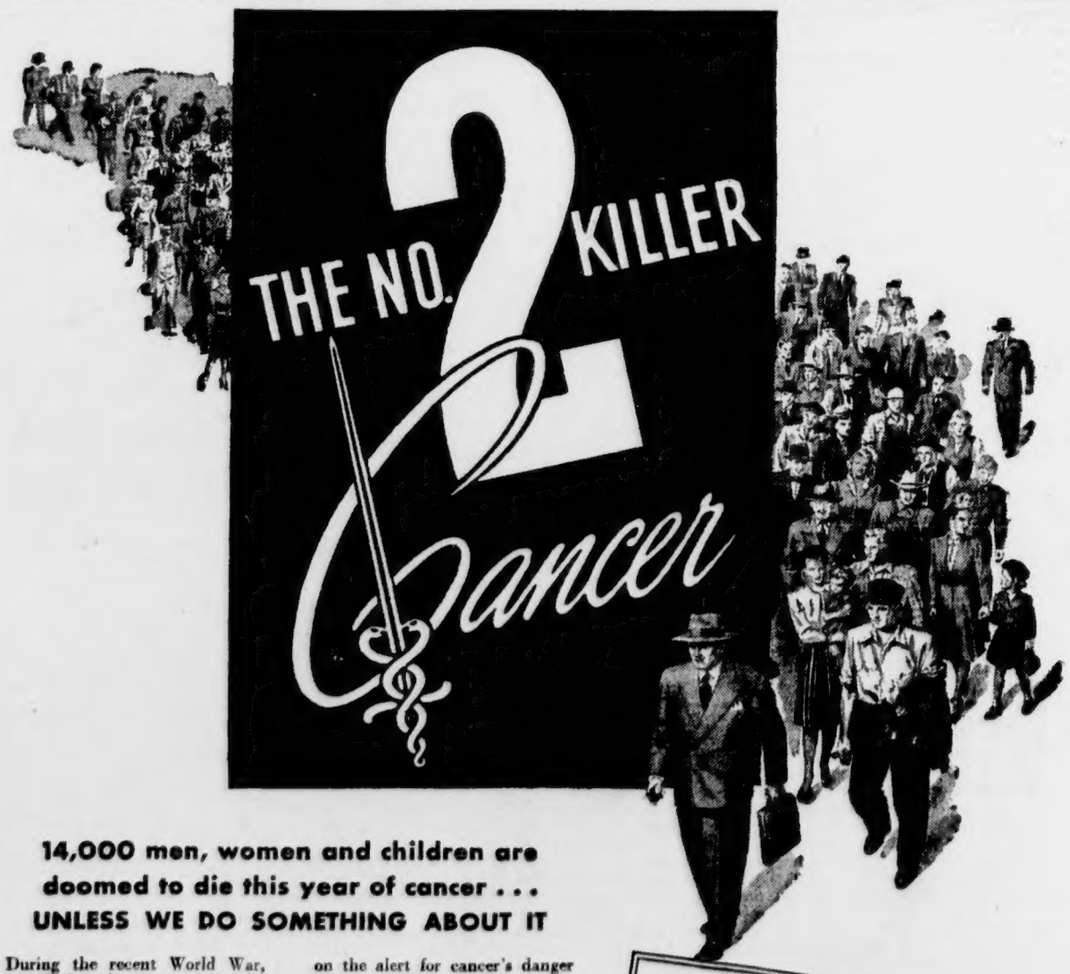

CLINTON, Ont., April 12 (CP)—Sir Andrew Jones, head of a British food mission to Canada, last night told a meeting of Huron county farmers here that a "defeatist attitude" among Canadian farmers toward Danish competition in the British market might destroy the Dominion's export trade in bacon and eggs with the United Kingdom.

Only Fear Is Industrial Strike

Canada Expecting Tourist Boom

"Come to Canada!"

That's what advertisements in countless United States magazines and newspapers tell the people.

"COME TO Canada!"—and they do, by the millions. Last year the Dominion's tourist industry amounted to more than $250,000,000 and even greater revenues are expected this season.

A survey by the Canadian Press today showed tourist bureaus in all the provinces have only one fear—if basic industries decide on strike action. A resulting slump will be shown in Canada's tourist industry.

Last year the number of tourists reached record proportions as millions of Americans came by automobile, train, boat and plane to sight-see, hunt, fish and generally relax and enjoy themselves in the Dominion's many playgrounds. Added to these were hundreds of thousands of Canadians, many of them spending their first vacations-with-pay as a result of recent labor legislation in several provinces.

"IF LABOR troubles do not continue . . . there is every reason to expect a bumper crop of tourists." That is this year's expert opinion of travel bureau officials from Prince Edward Island to British Columbia.

To focus greater attention of the Canadian public on the value and importance of the tourist industry, the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaux is sponsoring a tourist service education week from May 1 to 7. This campaign also is designed to impress upon those Canadians catering to visitors the importance of offering the best possible service and accommodation to the travelling public.

Ontario, most powerful magnet of the industry, last year welcomed some 14,000,000 tourists from the United States who contributed more than half the entire Dominion's tourist revenue.

IN THE WEST, the Rocky Mountain playground provides the principal attractions for British Columbia and Alberta, while freshwater fishing facilities bring many thousands to Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

In Alberta, some 500,000 visitors, mostly Canadians, visited the two national parks—Banff and Jasper—spending some $10,000,000 in 1946. Influx of tourists this year is expected to be "several hundred per cent" higher this year.

Seek Annexation Southwest Africa

CAPETOWN, April 12—(AP)—South African political leaders today were reported preparing a bi-partisan campaign aimed at strengthening the union's ties with mandated Southwest Africa in a way that would not flout the United Nations.

THEIR INTENTION apparently is to bring the League of Nations mandate territory—a German possession before the First World War—a step closer to absorption into the union through representation in the Capetown parliament and then to convince the UN that outright annexation is in order.

Parliament approved last night a government proposal to give Southwest Africa representation in Parliament as "an integral part of the union."

Found No Cash, So Smashed Eggs

HAGERSTON, Md., April 12—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Leister Isanogle believes it was just plain frustration that led thieves who broke into a large super market here Thursday night to smash hundreds of dozens of eggs on the floor and against the walls.

After going to great pains to force their way into the store their total cash loot was $1.61.

See Renomination Of U.S. President

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, April 12. — (BUP) — President Truman began his third year in office today, a better than odds-on favorite for renomination in 1948 and more sure of himself than at any time since he was catapulted into the White House by the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

MR. TRUMAN put aside business for the anniversary week-end to fly home to Missouri and visit his ailing, 94-year-old mother.

The president left at 8.10 a.m. aboard the plane, the Sacred Cow, for Grandview, Mo., his mother's home, arriving by midday. He will visit with his mother who is recuperating from a fractured hip, until early afternoon, then drive into Kansas City.

Tough Roast Going To Premier Attlee

HULL, Yorks., England, April 12—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee is scheduled to get a roast in the mail — but it's doubtful whether he will be able to eat it. The meat was sent by a group of housewives after its owner had discovered that she could not cut it. One woman said that a piece was given to a dog—but Towser couldn't get his teeth into it.

Lived in Poverty But Had Fortune

CHICAGO, April 12. — (AP) — August Richter, 79, and his blind sister, Amelia, 89, lived for seven years in virtual poverty in a squalid junk-filled South Side flat, and on Thursday August died. Friday, authorities found that in an old trunk and a safety deposit box the Richters had hoarded $76,250 in cash and $72,159 in securities.

Woman Delivers Own Set Twins

LIBERTY, Mo., April 12 — (AP)—The arrival of twins, a big moment in any family, hardly caused a ripple in the routine at the Walter Pearson home—Mrs. Pearson didn't even call a doctor.

WHEN PEARSON returned home Thursday night he found his 24-year-old wife, Theda, sitting on the daybed in the living room peeling potatoes for supper. Beside her were the twins, Carolyn Sue, five pounds, and Marilyn Lou, 3½ pounds, born two hours before.

Pearson had expected something unusual when he neared the house, but not this. His young sons had met him with this report:

"We got a lot of little sisters."

Mrs. Pearson hadn't expected a child until June.

"I scarcely got to the daybed when—there was the baby," she related Friday.

"THAT SECOND baby sure was a surprise!"

Pearson called Dr. C. M. Smith of Liberty, who after an examination of the mother and twins, told her "You did a good job."

Reject Appeals Jehovah Witnesses

QUEBEC, April 12—(CP) — The Appeals Court in a ruling handed down Friday rejected appeals by two Jehovah's Witnesses and another by the City of Quebec involving a third adherent of the sect, thereby upholding Superior Court verdicts in each case. Mr. Justice Antonin Galipeault dissented in the first two instances. Dismissed were appeals on behalf of Laurier Saumur and Gerald Barry, convicted on charges of distributing pamphlets without a permit. Mr. Justice Galipeault, however, registered his dissent, declaring that the civic by-law under which the two Jehovah's Witnesses were arrested is unconstitutional.

Wages in Britain Average $40 Week

LONDON, April 12—(AP)—The chief wage earner in 92 per cent of British homes makes no more than £10 ($40) a week, the Board of Trade Journal said yesterday after a survey of 11,276 homes in England and Wales. The chief wage earner in 21 per cent, or 2,567,000 families, earns up to £3 ($12) a week, it was estimated.

Tack Causes Death Of Calgary Child

CALGARY, April 12—(CP)—A tack that lodged in the lung after he had swallowed it without anyone's knowledge brought about the child's death in a Calgary hospital early yesterday. The boy was John Leonard Wright. Where or how the child got the tack is not known. Its presence in a lung was discovered when the child was taken to a tuberculosis X-ray clinic, operating near his home. Immediately the tack was revealed in the developed X-ray plate, he was taken to hospital where an operation was performed to remove it. It is understood the tack was recovered but complications set in and the boy died at 2 a.m. Friday.

Farmers Set a New Record

At Edmonton's annual spring stock show and sale, 534 finished beef animals were entered in the competition. Every one of these animals sold at a premium over the market price. The average premium was 10½ cents per pound.

Nothing equivalent to this ever happened before in a Canadian show ring. It sets a new record, and a remarkable one.

What this means, of course, is that the farmers in central and northern Alberta are producing an extraordinarily high average quality of finished beef cattle. Every animal shown brought a premium price, whether it won a prize or didn't. They sold for, on the average, 10½ cents per pound more than the going price for top quality stock.

The fortunate owners are to be congratulated on this record-making achievement. But the congratulations need not end there. They can be extended in measure to the whole farming community in this favored area. No part of Canada is better adapted to the production of exceptional quality beef. That is not news, but the fact is strikingly emphasized by the event. Those who farm here have an opportunity to expand and develop this branch of farming that is not surpassed—if it is equalled—in any other province.

Give Them A Chance

The extension of superannuation schemes is an excellent tendency. Besides providing for the worker's later years, this conduces to peace of mind, hence better work and longer life.

It has the less desirable effect of impelling employers to recruit their personnel only from youths fresh from school, young enough to build up a substantial superannuation fund in a larger number of working years.

But the present, when a start has barely been made toward reconversion for nearly six years of war, is not the time to adopt that principle too rigidly. This could, for example, shut out war veterans even from employment where the principle of veteran preference has been laid down. Older men who entered the service now find themselves too old to get in on the ground floor of a superannuation scheme.

To the suggestion that the remedy is adequate old age pensions it is cold comfort for the man who is too old at thirty to reflect that in forty years his troubles will be over if he can arrange to tide himself over for that period.

Security Legislation

Two new pieces of legislation came into being in the United States since the telephone strike started, both hurried along, if not inspired, by that tie-up. The legislature of New Jersey wrote severe penalty clauses into an act which forbids a strike in a public utility. And the Texas law-makers put through a bill which forbids any employer to refuse to employ any person because he does or does not belong to a union.

The New Jersey law asserts the right of the public to continuous service from a utility. The Texas law asserts the right of every man to work. They have a common significance. It is that neither the owners nor the employes of a necessary enterprise can convert this into a monopoly and shut off the service at will.

Some thirteen other states have laws similar to that of Texas. The whole trend of recent and present legislation in the United States is in keeping with the spirit of these new measures. The right of the customer is being proclaimed in statutes, and the right to work also.

It is distorting language to call this anti-labor legislation. It is protective, not aggressive, in essence and extent. The purpose it to safeguard the rights of other people when an employer and his employes fall into disagreement. The influence and tendency must be to discourage strife and encourage the exercise of reason in the carrying on of industry. To do that cannot be "anti" any legitimate interest.

Showers On Order?

Add rain-making to the achievements of science—and the future duties of the weatherman.

At Portland, Oregon, a meteorologist went up in an airplane. Flying along at 10,000 feet, he chucked handfuls of dry ice pellets on the mat of clouds below. That did it.

Diving to 4,000 feet, the fliers found that a "wall" of snow-flakes five to ten miles long was fluttering down from the path the plane had taken overhead. Down at 800 feet they found the flakes were melting, sending a shower of rain on the ground.

So, given a layer of clouds, an airplane and a supply of dry ice, rain-making seems to have been taken out of the category of miracles and myths and put on the list of things which can be done. Maybe Hatfield wasn't faking after all, though his method was different.

The possibilities are enormous. Perhaps after a while when a drought threatens anywhere the farmers will just call up the local weather office and tell the medicine-man there to go aloft and start something.

On The Side Lines

The death of the Most Reverend Derwyn Trevor Owen, Archbishop of Toronto and Anglican Primate of all Canada, has elicited eulogies from Canadians in all walks of life. Statesmen, business men, professional men, as well as clerics of all denominations, have expressed their warmest admiration for the late Primate's life and character.

It is a very great pity that a large number of these lay eulogists seldom see the inside of a church.

It is a tribute, of course, to the catholicity of the late Archbishop's activities that unchurched persons should so voice their respect. But it is not a tribute to the unchurched themselves that they should see so much to admire in a dead prelate and make so little application of the lesson of his life.

Archbishop Owen himself would have been the first to insist that whatever talents and charm and sanctity he possessed were the gifts of the Grace of God. He would have been the first to protest that his greatness, which he would have denied vigorously, was a reflection only of God's greatness, and that his powers were no more than the power of his Faith.

It seems a pity, then, that since the late Primate was a shining example of what God can make of men, there are so many to admire and so few to imitate.

In other words it is a human tragedy that such a great number of able men choose to view the Church, respectfully perhaps, but still only from the sidelines.

Most of us who, now it is April, are planning a Florida holiday, will be lucky if we reach a nearby lake.

An erudite Ottawa correspondent of The Canadian Press told how Mr. Speaker Fauteux cabled congratulations to Barbara Ann Scott on her winning the figure skating championship, "adding in French," said the correspondent, " 'Mens sana in corpore sano'."

THE THRILL THAT COMES ONCE IN A LIFETIME ⁂ by Webster

Fine CBS Broadcast

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

On Good Friday our family happened to tune in to a special broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System. It was about health and medical care in the United States — and from the point of view of the radio craftsmanship one of the finest we ever happened to get.

Our main interest in the broadcast was to find out who was putting it on. No punches were pulled about the lack of medical care, especially in country districts. So in the family group (enlarged at the moment because boys had dropped in to see the girls) we had a friendly bet—who could guess what organization was sponsoring the program.

PHILPOTT

"It's the doctors' Blue Cross insurance scheme," somebody said.

"No it sounds more like Technocracy."

"It must be propaganda for Health Insurance or State Medicine."

Imagine our surprise and delight when we found that it was Columbia itself providing the broadcast. I hope our Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is alert enough to use the international radio exchange system and arrange for "repeat" for the people of Canada.

THE BEAUTY and power of that particular CBS broadcast on the state of health (or ill-health) of the American people was that it was not carrying the torch for some particular political party or ideology.

The more I look at world facts today the more certain I am that we are heading for universal disaster unless we concentrate on things which unite mankind—and not those which divide us.

Here is something for those who talk so glibly about the "inevitable world war three" to think about.

What makes them think it would be as easy to put the world in order after that war than it is to do that now?

I could give a hundred reasons why it would be harder.

HERE IS A STORY about Napoleon which seems to me to indicate one way out.

Pirates on the African coast were playing hob with French ships—or any other kind of ships they could catch and loot. The nest from which the pirates operated was a port which I will call X.

The French government figured out it would cost forty thousand francs to finance an expedition to wipe the place off the map. When the news of this reached the pirate chieftain he sent a message to Napoleon saying:

"Send me just half of what you propose to spend—send me just twenty thousand francs and I'll wipe the whole port off the map myself. I'll burn it down."

THE WORLD is divided into different races, colors, religions, nations and social systems.

But—altogether too few admit it—what they have in common is far more important than what they fight about.

If we could get the governments of the world to quit thinking in terms of war and conflict even for ten years we could transform this world almost out of recognition.

At least 99 per cent of the people of the world want the same things, and, if given the chance, would cooperate to get them. But because we persist in international warmongering, and class war at home, we fall woefully short of what is possible.

I SEE ABSOLUTELY no hope for mankind until in all parts of the earth people and nations begin to "repent"—as Jesus put it.

Repent means "think again."

The magnificent CBS broadcast on the state of health of the American people seemed to me a good sign.

Eisenhower's Offer

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

With the ending of selective service, the problem of American defence has become acute. Whether Congress will be forced to revive selective service depends upon the success of voluntary enlistments. The United States must have an army; with the commitments to police duties in Germany and Japan, it needs a considerable army. Since what is essential will be found, the issue is professional service or selective service.

Much can be said for the volunteer army, especially for police duties. Our lack of conspicuous success in the policing of Germany partly is due to the presence of too many very young men who do not see their duties in a professional spirit, but rather as opportunity to fraternize with frauleins and make profitable barters.

THOMPSON

The professional soldier is dedicated to a noble career: the defence of his civilization. We may hope for the time when a United Nations, dedicated to enforcing international laws, will be protected by defenders of mankind itself, but that time has not come. Meanwhile, American defence must be maintained.

IN A SOCIETY in which material considerations overshadow greater values, the military career may seem relatively unattractive. But young men should consider what other values and opportunities it offers.

It offers a greater degree of economic security in this uncertain world than is found in most pursuits. The professional soldier is not hired and fired according to the fluctuations of the economy. His may be a relatively austere life, but it is not a squalid one. He suffers no danger of falling into the ranks of the ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, or being penniless in old age.

It offers an honorable life. The soldier is not in brutal competition with others in the clamor of the market place.

THE MODERN ARMY does not incapacitate a man's skills. It uses and trains every variety of human capacity. The mechanical services need everything, from the highest branches of engineering, downward. The intelligence services need and train men of intellectual capacities and command of languages. There is hardly a function of modern life that is not duplicated in the army.

The good soldier or officer is a man of character. Character is primary and, in the hierarchy of military values, counts above everything. Fault can be found with the American army. It is not elastic enough; virtue and brains are not speedily enough rewarded. But the equivalents of "brass hats" are to be found in civil occupations. And the better the general quality of men, the greater the elastic is bound to be.

History does not substantiate that the army is a refuge for the dull-witted nor that army men have no appreciation of democracy.

ONE OF THE greatest living defenders of the democratic idea is General Eisenhower—hater of war and of political adventurism. Secretary of State General Marshall possesses one of the best brains in public life. And no man is less "militaristic," for none more firmly believes in the subservience of the army to the civil authority.

The army is a virile way of life and most professional soldiers love it. That they often grumble about it is no criterion; all of us grumble over the disciplines of our professions. What makes us love our work is our talent for it and our belief in its social value. The latter is perhaps the greatest part of happiness in a career, and the soldier—as the defender of society—feels it with intensity. He enjoys the respect of all citizens.

Leadership Language

BY FRANK B. WALKER

LONDON: An interesting test of how much ordinary men and women really understand of the written word has been made as a result of the Labor government's attempt to produce an economic document—the Economic Survey for 1947—for popular consumption.

The survey was so worded and so aimed that "I am sure," said Prime Minister Attlee, "the bulk of the people can read it and understand it."

How wrong he was has been shown through a survey conducted by Mass Observation, a British organization for sampling public opinion.

The results are almost beyond belief. It would be interesting to see what would happen in Canada under similar circumstances.

QUESTIONS were asked on the following words: flexible, deprive, preceding, attainment and assess. Here the majority of answers were reasonably correct. Then the investigators threw in: ultimately, resources and subordinate. These were "borderline cases, with many correct but nearly as many vague, blank or wrong." Next: formulate and conception. Here are some of the explanations of the word "formulate":

"Speed up." "Get together." "First to get going." "Does it mean, make a circle?"

The results were equally disconcerting for conception: "the government's personal view"; "getting people into action"; "Is it the end?"; "a fellow of my standing doesn't understand those words."

When two "difficult" words were used together, the degree of error increased proportionately. "Rigid application" was explained as:

"Strong asking"; "Everything under control"; "That's where you're working sort of thing", "You want a job done—you seek permission to do it."

"Even," says Mass Observation "totalitarian planning was very often misunderstood."

WHOLE SENTENCES developed the uncertainty even further. An important sentence in the conclusion of the White Paper was: "The objectives of this paper embody the government's determination to put first things first."

Craftsman, aged 31: "It probably means the government wants to run all industries instead of being run privately."

Craftsman, aged 35: "It means the production of machines for making machines taking priority."

Laborer, aged 27: "It's saying that they are going to fetch things up to a standard of living what we were used to before the war."

Laborer, aged 30: "Sort of conscription."

THE CONCLUSION reached by Mass Observation is that "a wide gulf" still exists between "the languages of leadership and of the general public." "There are also indications that the language—indeed much in the approach—of politics is somewhat out of gear with modern mass mentality."

The results of the survey are surprising only in the extent of the lack of understanding which they show. There is little doubt that a similar lack of understanding, varying in degree, exists in all the English speaking countries.

Homes For All

BY HARPER PROWSE, MLA

Before any undertaking can be succesfully carried out it is essential that one should have a definite objective or goal. It is probably true that one should certainly have a goal, or know clearly what one intends to do, before any plans are made or any course of action undertaken. To start off haphazardly without knowing clearly where one intends to end up may be a good way to get interesting and exciting experiences but it is a poor way to get things done.

I have been interested to hear, as I have discussed the housing problem with people from various parts of the province, the same story. All of them are puzzled over the fact that in spite of the large number of houses which have been built in the past five years, compared with previous periods, there still seems to be as great a shortage and as much overcrowding and hardship as there ever was. I believe that the reason for this is that we have been going at the problem of providing homes in a peacemeal manner without having a definite overall objective or guiding policy. The result is that our efforts have been ineffective because they have not been directed towards the solution of our chief problem.

BETWEEN WARS Britain made giant strides towards providing homes for her low income groups at rentals within their means. But before Britain started to build homes the British people had decided that their objective was to provide a home for every family—a home which would be adequate from the standpoint of size, equipment, sanitary facilities and costs. I do not think either the people of Canada, the government, or the construction industry or any other interested group in this country have yet decided what their goal is.

Our trouble is that each group has a different goal and we are trying to do so many things, and please so many groups of different interests at the same time that we are pleasing nobody and failing to achieve success in any particular field.

I make these statements, not in the spirit of malicious criticism, nor for the purpose of trying to lay the blame for it at the feet of any person or particular group of persons. I believe it was a situation which developed out of the war. We were faced with the necessity of meeting a crisis. At the same time we were faced with demands for temporary accommodation for war workers and others, with providing temporary homes for returned men who did not know where they would find employment and therefore did not know where they required a permanent home. We were faced, on top of this, with shortages of every kind, high costs—and a serious lack of understanding of the seriousness of the problem on the part of the general public.

AS A RESULT of all this several government agencies got into the housing business. It was not until early last summer that it became obvious that these agencies should be all put under one head and it was not until late last fall that this was finally accomplished.

But to date there seems to have been no decision as to what our objective should be. It is true that most people, heads of the housing departments included, have decided that the answer to our problem lies in building homes—as many homes as we can with the supplies of materials and labor available. But this, I belive, is an over-simplification of the problem which is leading us into the by-paths and bringing us no nearer to a solution to our problem. In Monday's column we will discuss the factors I believe should be considered in selecting an objective.

"PEN-PALS" WANTED

Editor, Bulletin.—I have heard quite a lot about how you have found pen-pals, for my friend and I should like to know if you could please find one for me. I have never had a pen-pal before.

I am 14½ years of age; and I attend a commercial college. My hobbies are hockey, table-tennis, cycling, a slight amount of reading, and I go swimming when the weather permits. I am also interested in both classical and modern music, but I prefer classical.

"TONS OF MONEY"

Editor, Bulletin: Public accounts for the nine months ending 31 December, 1946, revealed that profits from the provincial government's liquor monopoly amounted to something near $7 millions. And it is estimated that the profits for the whole fiscal year—to 31 March, 1947,—will not be much, if any, under $10 millions. This will be the biggest outlay on liquor and the highest profit for the public treasury since the Alberta government acquired the monopoly.

These millions of profit, it will be noted, were built up out of the "spending money" of working people in the strict sense of the word; people, that is to say, young and healthy enough to earn that tremendous sum.

It is here suggested that it would be far from inappropriate if some portion of these tons of money were to be devoted to the improvement of living conditions amongst the blind, crippled and others unable to contribute their share of effort in earning the community income which made these profits possible.

BALANCE OF TRADE

Editor, Bulletin.—In your editorial of April 5—"Who is going to Pay"? you imply that Canadians are to benefit from reparations collected from Germany.

The only way Germany can pay is by exports, which neither the U.S.A., Britain nor Canada want, if we are to believe the statements and advertisements of our politicians, all of whom emphasize exports as the life-blood of sound business. When wheat was selling at 25 cents per bushel in the 'thirties, it was said that Germany offered to buy this wheat at $1.30 per bushel if we would accept goods in payment. We did not want any goods, having a surplus ourselves.

Is it not a fact that the more we export, even the more we give away, the more prosperity there is and the more employment in Canada.

Why is it that Marshall, Bevin and Molotov cannot agree on German reparations when Russia is the only one of the three interested in imports?

Britain claims that without a large exportable surplus she will become a second class power. If the U.S.A. cannot export she will be in the throes of a depression in a very short time. The same in Canada. It seems to be the aim of every country in the world to have a favorable balance of trade, Such a condition is of course impossible.

Will some reader please explain this seeming paradox?

Truman May Talk On North Outlets

SEATTLE, April 12—(AP)—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D—Wash.) said here Friday there is a strong possibility that President Truman will confer with Premier John Hart of British Columbia in Victoria in August on Alaska highway and railway matters.

HE SAID THE Victoria visit is contingent upon the president making his scheduled trip through the Pacific northwest to Alaska.

"Unless some last minute emergency arises," Magnuson said, "the president will make the Alaska trip. He will probably stop off at Victoria to confer with Premier Hart about the British Columbia end of the highway, the Hart cut-off, the probability of a more direct road from Prince George north to Whitehorse, Y.T. and the possibility of an extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway to Alaska."

THE SENATOR added "the president assures me he will try to go to Victoria. He wants very much to do it. I expect there would be some representative of Prime Minister King there, too."

HOW TO BUILD A BIRD-HOUSE

Would you like to build a house for a bird? It is found that there are three kinds of protection which birds seek. These are: the nest shelter, the food shelter, and the nest house.

If you were to make a nest shelter, it would need to be open on one or more sides, as its roof and sides are intended merely to protect the nest from the rain and wind. In making a food shelter, you would provide a roof, open sides, and a floor on which food could be placed. To construct a nest house, you make a suitable building in which birds may seek protection and rear their young. A nest house is more likely to attract permanent residents than the other two kinds of shelter.

Designs for bird-houses that are easy to build.

One of the most important things to observe is the kinds of birds which frequent the yards where you are planning to locate your houses. Many boys have failed to house their favorite birds because they did not know that the entrance openings vary with the size of the bird. The following sizes for entrance openings have been found satisfactory. In each case, the measurement given represents the minimum diameter.

For bluebirds, tree swallows, and hairy and downy woodpeckers—2 inches.

For chickadees and Carolina wrens—1⅛ inches.

For house wrens—⅞ inch.

For house-finches, crested flycatchers and red-headed woodpeckers—2 inches.

In the case of other species experience will enable you to determine the diameter appropriate for each species.

Robins, barn-swallows and phoebes need one or more sides open.

Wood is the most satisfactory material from which to make a bird-house. To avoid having it warp out of shape, choose stock which is ⅝ inch, or even ½ inch in thickness. Then, too, you should construct your bird-house so that water will not run inside when it rains.

First decide upon the kind of bird for which you wish to make a house. The few suggestions which are given here for bird-house designs may help you to determine the type of construction you will use. It is best to allow for cleaning through the side, the top or the bottom. The size of your house will depend upon whether you are making it for one family or for several families. In the latter case, partitions, and sometimes and additional floor, will be needed.

After you have decided these matters, make a working sketch on which you should place the exact dimensions of each piece of wood to be used. Next, select your wood, which should be over ¼ inch in thickness, and shape each part to the desired size.

The entrance hole should be placed quite near the roof, so that the bird may have ample room to make its nest. To give proper ventilation, you will need to make smaller holes above the entrance and near the roof.

Regardless of whether you use brads, nails or screws, it is more satisfactory to set or countersink these deep enough so that the heads may be covered with putty.

Now you are ready to preserve your bird-house and improve its appearance with paint. Having decided where you will locate it, you will be able to decide if green, brown or another color will harmonize best with the surroundings. When the paint is dry, securely fasten the bird-house to a tree or building, being careful not to have the entrance face the prevailing winds. The house should be placed out of the cat's reach.

The design shown in the illustration are very simple. Any bright boy may make these bird-houses out of odds and ends of wood, using a few simple tools. Boys who have had considerable experience in carpentry may be able to work out more elaborate designs of their own.

Former Vice Czar Taken From Vessel

GENOA, Italy, April 12—(AP)—Police went aboard the Turkish steamship Bakir in Genoa harbor today and took custody of Charles (Lucky) Luciano, one-time New York vice czar, re-deported to Italy from Cuba. Dr. Adolfo Colomba, Genoa's assistant chief of police, said earlier that Luciano would be confined here until arrangements could be made to transfer him to Palermo, Sicily, for investigation of his return to the western hemisphere last year.

Britain to Back Empire Preference

GENEVA, April 12—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps Friday indicated at the international trade conference here that Britain firmly maintains her faith in Empire preference as one fundamental of her trade policy and will be an extremely tough bargainer in any negotiations with countries seeking to whittle down this preference.

AT A PRESS conference shortly before he addressed a plenary session of the conference, the president of the British Board of Trade was asked if he would consider, if the United States went the whole way in a proposal to slash tariffs 50 per cent, this sufficient concession and advantage to allow for the dismantling of Imperial preference.

Sir Stafford gripped his pipe tightly in his teeth and replied with a sharp, firm "no."

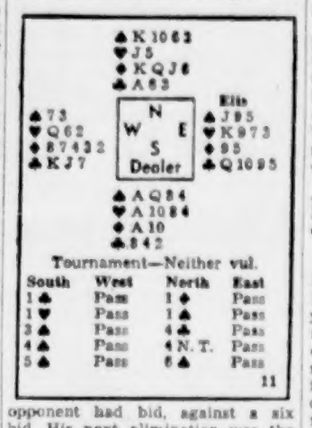

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

If you are interested in the study of opening leads, here is one to give consideration to. This is the hand that eliminated Morrie Ells of New York and his teammates from the Vanderbilt Cup Tournament, despite the fact that Ells is one of the country's best players on opening leads.

After studying the bidding, what card would you lead?

Ells (East) said that he immediately eliminated a diamond lead into the suit which his right-hand opponent had bid, against a six bid. His next elimination was the trump suit. With three to the jack-nine, there was a possibility of making up a trump trick. If his partner held the queen of trumps, he was practically assured of a trump trick unless he led it.

Tournament—Neither vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	4 N. T.	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	6 ♠	Pass

11

Now he was down to the heart and the club and after some study he finally led the heart. You can see what happened. Declarer played low from dummy, West won with the queen, and later declarer was able to take a heart finesse and make the contract.

Had a club been opened, the contract automatically was doomed to defeat. Ells said he thought that the club was as good a lead as the heart, but with the queen-ten-nine of clubs, against a six bid, he might be able to establish a trick that he would lose with the lead.

Ells said that the really tough part of all this was that if he had simply followed the theory that it does not pay to lead away from a king, he would have had to lead a club, but neither he nor any other expert believes in rules that begin with "never".

Legion Plans Defy Sunday "Blue Law"

VANCOUVER, April 12—(CP)—Officials of the New Veterans branch of the Canadian Legion here announced Friday that they would openly defy Sunday "blue laws." Peter Turner, secretary of the branch, said his organization in future will openly sell tickets for Sunday night charity concerts, dropping the present silver collection practice. Earlier this week Lord's Day Alliance officials said they would take action against sponsors of a concert here last Sunday by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Admission tickets were sold despite a warning from the Lords Day Alliance.

Say CPR Has Had "Hard Rates Deal"

LONDON, April 12 (CP)—The Financial Times in an editorial yesterday said the Canadian Pacific Railway "has had a distinctly hard deal over rates and charges."

"FOR MORE THAN 20 years it has been allowed to make virtually no change although expenses—indeed the prices of almost everything—have risen materially in the interim," the newspaper said.

Freight rates in Canada were lower than in Britain, Europe and the United States, Canadian Pacific's earnings on its investment in railway property had fallen from five per cent in the pre-war peak year to only 1.6 per cent despite a 21-per-cent advance in gross earnings.

"THIS IS A MATTER which keenly interests British investors," the Times said, adding that more than 97 percent of the Canadian Pacific preference stock and 43 percent of ordinary stock was held by United Kingdom and other British nationals. The Canadian holding was 9.29 per cent.

Plan Drive in Aid "Senior Veterans"

REGINA, April 12—(CP)— Col. P. J. Philpott of the Veterans Affairs Department, Ottawa, said yesterday arrangements are being made for a national drive to interest employers in employment of senior veterans. Col. Philpot, special adviser on older veterans to the deputy minister of veterans affairs, said in an interview that the campaign would be in the interest of veterans 45-60 years of age.

Urges Compulsory Military Training

WINNIPEG, April 12—(CP)—Compulsory military training in Canada in peacetime was advocated here last night by Lt.-Gen. Price Montague at the annual Vimy Day dinner. The present liaison in the British Empire was not sufficient, he said. "We must get together and work out a defence of Empire and Canada must be ready. There is only one way and that is to adopt military training. "We must say it with preparedness today or some day it may be left to the prairie dogs and gophers who roam these plains to say it with flowers."

Calgary, April 12 (CP)—When Mrs. William Carson, 86, pioneer resident of Calgary, became the 300,000th Albertan to be X-rayed by the mobile chest X-ray units in the province, it marked a milestone in the history of tuberculosis control in the province as well as a milestone for Mrs. Carson in her work of combatting the disease. Mrs. Carson received her examination Friday at the X-ray unit which is winding up the city-wide TB. survey started last October.

"Mutiny on Bounty" Co-Author Dead

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 12 (AP)—Charles B. Nordhoff, 60, co-author of South Sea Island novels such as "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "The Hurricane," was found dead Friday at his home, apparently of a heart attack. Nordhoff and James Norman Hall were pilots in the Lafayette Escadrille during the First World War, later joined the United States Army Flying service, and sailed for the South Seas in 1919. Nordhoff fell in love with the daughter of a Tahitan chief and they were married.

Ireland Facing Food, Fuel Crisis

NEW YORK, April 12—(SP)—The New York Times said today in a Dublin dispatch that Ireland now faces the "most critical food and fuel crisis within living memory." Recalling that one century ago—in "black 1847"—Ireland was stricken by a failure of the potato crops, the dispatch said that in 1947 a severe winter, late spring and torrential floods had combined to make the sowing of crops virtually impossible.

Sows First Grain In South Alberta

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 12 (CP)—Western Canada's first report of seeding this spring was received here Friday from Burdett, 60 miles east of Lethbridge, where planting of spring rye started Thursday. Capturing the honor of being the first prairie farmer to report seeding this year was J. Votk, farming six miles southeast of Burdett. Continued drying weather conditions will enable seeding to become general in the Burdett area in another week.

GEMS FROM SWEDENBORG:
"Those who have been interiorly infected with spiritual deceit, that is with hypocrisy, are they who are meant by those who speak against the Holy Spirit, for whom there is no forgiveness (Matthew XII. 31-34). By "saying a word against the Holy Spirit," is meant to speak well and think evil, and to do well and to will evil, respecting those things which are of the Lord, of His kingdom, and of His church, also which are of the Word; for thus falsity lies inwardly hidden in the truths which they speak; and evil, which is hidden poison, in the good which they do; consequently they are called "an offspring of vipers." . . . The "Holy Spirit" denotes Divine Truth proceeding from the Lord, thus the Holy Divine Itself, which is thereby interiorly blasphemed and profaned. That it will not be forgiven them is because hypocrisy or deceit in connection with Holy Divine things infects the interiors of man, and destroys everything of spiritual life in him, as was said above, insomuch that at last there is nothing sound in any part of him."
—Arcana Coelestia

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Missionaries for Christ

It was Christ's plan that people should be won to him one by one. In the New Testament it is recorded that "Andrew brought his brother to Jesus." On every one who professes His name, there is an obligation to draw others to His side that all may share in the fruits of His redemptive sacrifice.

In a real sense, every Christian is a missionary. It is far more important that a Christian should lead others to God than that he should become a leader in industry or science, or gain fame or fortune as a writer or artist. The greatest men in Christ's eyes are those who go among the unconverted, sacrificing comfort and sometimes risking their lives, so that His kingdom may be extended everywhere.

It will be argued, of course, that it is impossible for all Christians to be missionaries. The worker cannot leave his office or factory to become a preacher of the Gospel. "That's a minister's job," one can imagine some people saying. Young people must remain in school or college. Housewives cannot neglect their homes and families however much they might wish to share their faith with others.

These objections are perfectly valid. But that does not mean that only a select few are called to be apostles of Christ. The secret is that every man or woman who lives by the teachings of Christ, who shows His spirit of mercy and love, is actually propagating the religion of Christ simply by showing what it is in practice.

Who can guess how many souls outside the fold of Christ have been drawn to Him by example of some upright, God-fearing friend? Or how many have learned to know Christ through a simple act of kindness on another's part, or a single word of consolation. Christ called upon His followers to be missionaries, but He explained His meaning very clearly when He said: "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me."

More Sunshine In Gardens Is Trend Taught By War

A Sunny Garden Near a Terrace.

Annual flowers require sunshine; so do vegetables, and so do you. Gardeners by the million who during the war devoted their attention to food production learned the value of sunshine both to gardens and to themselves, and came to the conclusion that over most of the country both gardens and homes had been too much shaded.

Gardening in the sun proved to be delightful as well as healthful. Natural suntan was obtained more easily than by a long trip to the beach; and they were astonished by the vigor of growth shown by flowers in the sunny vegetable garden, as compared with those in crowded beds and borders, competing with the roots of trees and shrubs for food, and limited to a few hours daily of the life-giving sunshine.

This experience is making a change in many gardens, whose owners are determined no longer to be "forest people," inquiring about every attractive flower which they wish to grow, whether it is one of the few subjects that "do well in the shade."

They are making changes which open their homes and gardens to the sun, with shade only in carefully planned places, where it will serve a definite purpose, either of design, or function. There is nothing to equal the shade of a tree, when one is resting after pleasant excercise in the sun; but this cannot be appreciated where there are so many trees no sunshine can penetrate their canopy.

Even about the house, sunshine is needed. To reduce the number of trees and shrubs and to introduce color into front yard plantings, annual flowers may be planted to follow spring bulbs, which provide the first flowers of spring. If bulbs are planted deeply, they need not be lifted each year; and seeds of annuals may be sown above them as soon as the ground warms up.

The plan which accompanies this article shows how to arrange an attractive planting of marigolds, nasturtiums and alyssum in front of a terrace, and as a border to a walk. One of the tall, carnation-type marigolds is used in the back-ground, with a single French variety of dwarf habit in front.

To border the walk, plant dwarf nasturtiums, of the single or double type, with alyssum, either white or violet next the walk. If the nasturtiums are yellow or orange, alyssum violet queen will produce a striking effect, or plants of this variety may be alternated with white alyssum.

Salvation Army To Visit Prisons

Throughout the Canadian territory in The Salvation Army tomorrow will be observed as "Prison Sunday." In all jails and penal institutions in the Dominion, Salvationists will conduct meetings bringing cheer to the inmates, with music and song.

IN THE EDMONTON district special gatherings will be held at the citadel on 102 street and also at the Fort Saskatchewan jail.

On Sunday morning in the citadel, Mrs. Ivan Halsey will conduct the holiness meeting, taking as her subject, "Midway Between.". Bandsman J. Taylor will be the soloist.

Brig. and Mrs. Rufus Raymer, the divisional commanders will visit the Fort Saskatchewan jail in the afternoon, where they will speak. They will be accompanied by a brass and vocal quartet.

The salvation meeting in the citadel will be led by Major Halsey. Features of the gathering will be a ladies' vocal trio. Solo by a gospel singer and selections by the citadel band and songster brigade. Major Halsey's subject will be, "Fetters that Bind".

Major and Mrs. George Tanner, social service officers, who have both had considerable experience in prison and police court work will tell stories of actual experiences among men and women behind prison bars.

Guest Speaker

The Rev. R. G. Thompson, Secretary of the Associated Temperance Forces of Alberta, will be guest speaker at the evening service of Strathcona Presbyterian Church on Sunday. His subject will be "The Right Use of God's Gifts." At the close of the address the talking picure "It's the Brain That Counts" will be shown.

Guide to Home Builders

Grow Roses, Help to Beautify Edmonton

No plant rewards the grower with as much enjoyment and satisfaction for little trouble as the rose. They are universal in their appeal and popularity; and surrender their beauty in the humblest surroundings.

Success with roses in this climate depends partly on the quality of the bushes, but more particularly upon the root-stock, that is, bushes budded on a root-stock or briar which is suitable for this climate.

OBTAIN ROSE SHOW Booklet—The rose bushes have quality and are specially grown on a briar or root-stock which has been found the most suitable for this climate, and if you follow the undermentioned directions you will be absolutely assured of success.

DELIVERY OF ROSES—When you take delivery of the rose bushes place them in some sheltered place, take off the moss from the roots and place the bushes in a pail of water for at least 24 hours before planting.

SOIL—The soil which best suits the rose is a deep loam of a greasy nature. When this is not to be had and the soil is light, add stiff loam in addition to manure. If heavy clay, add sand or some gritty material. However, roses will thrive in most of our Alberta soils.

PREPARATION OF GROUND and Best Situation—A place sheltered from high winds, open, and not surrounded by trees should, if possible, be assigned to them; a S.E. or S.W. aspect is preferable, the beds being situated so as to receive the morning sun.

PLANTING—Care must be taken to avoid deep planting. Dig the holes square, not round, and preferably larger at the bottom than the top.

Cut off all broken or damaged roots. The roots should be spread out carefully and evenly spaced, with the roots pointing in every direction—do not cram the roots in straight in a small hole, the future of the plant depends on the new tiny root hairs that must be developed after planting. Do not put manure on the bare roots, but cover over and make the roots firm with an inch or two of soil by hand, fill up with a mixture of well-rotted manure and soil, or soil only; this should be tramped very firmly with the feet except the top two inches, which should be left fairly loose. When the planting is complete, the union of the stock, or perhaps to make it clear, we might say, the junction of the root-stock and the branches should be about 1½ or 2 inches below the surface of the soil.

WALTER P. WILSON

A rose grower of note both here and in his native England.

It is also beneficial to draw a mound of light soil up over the bush, burying it completely to protect the branches from drying before growth begins. Allow this soil to remain until the bush takes root. This will be about two weeks after planting. After removal of the soil, shade from direct sun until bush begins to leaf out. When the bushes begin leafing out it is a good plan to make sure the soil is well packed around the roots as during growth they sometimes become loose.

Feed you garden with a complete plant food. Remember that a well-fed plant is much less susceptible to disease and insect attacks.

When removing clinkers from a stoker, a sheet-metal tray is convenient to keep them off the floor or from endangering shoes and clothing. The tray rests on the sheet-metal housing covering the feed. A lightweight metal will do and the tray can be of riveted or welded construction.

To replace small broken window panes, cut wire-screen cloth the same size as the broken pane. Suspend the cloth in a tray of shellac, remove and allow to dry. The shellac should fill all the holes.. This pane will keep out wind and rain and will admit a fair amount of light.

Good Soil Is Important

When garden novices think of planting, they think of seeds. But the experienced hand with the "green thumb" knows that soil comes before seeds. For good soil is essential to gardening success.

Perfect soil is of medium coarseness, neither very heavy or extra fine. It is loose and easily crumbled, permitting circulation of air vital to plant roots. It has a good proportion of humus. This is decomposed vegetable or animal matter, such as plants, manure leaves, grass clippings and dead animals.

However, perfection in soil is as rare as perfection anywhere. So your garden, like most, will need first aid from soil conditioners, such as fertilizers and compounded plant foods. So Rule No. 1 is "Know Your Soil" before planting seeds.

It is impractical for the backyard gardener to make a really scientific analysis of his soil, but if possible, a pound or two should be sent to the nearest state experimental station, where they'll gladly do a thorough job for you. Lacking that, the gardener can use litmus paper (obtainable in most drug stores) or the simple soil-testing kits carried by seed and department stores, to test the acidity of his soil.

Plans 3 Sermons At St. Andrew's

Announcing a series of three addresses to be delivered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church beginning tomorrow evening on the subjects, "Factors in Delinquency", "Factors in Divorce," and "Factors in Moral Decline', the Rev. J. Gordon Troyer, the minister, stated, "They are designed to give some factual information on subjects of pertinent interest mature thought to the problems especially to people able to give which confront us today."

Parents, educators, social workers, legislators, members of service clubs and the professions are specially invited to hear the first of these addresses tomorrow night dealing with factors in delinquency. The speaker brings to his subject considerable experience since he has visited prisons in the United States and Canada. He was also a student of criminology in the University of Brititsh Columbia.

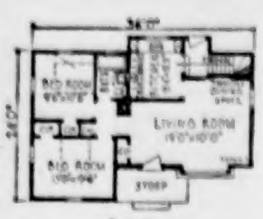

SCONA WINS CUP

After four years in the hands of the Erskine United church Trail Rangers, the J. B. Gillies hockey trophy was won recently by Scona Baptist Church Trail Rangers who defeated a similar group from the Metropolitan church. The game was the final in the series and was played at the arena.

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

CALGARY, APRIL 12 — WINNIPEG FLYERS found the going rather tough Thursday night and the situation hasn't improved any for them with the second game of the western final with Calgary Stampeders only a few hours away.

Don McRae, ex-Monarch junior who had considerable to do with the downfall of the Edmonton Canadians in the junior playoffs last season and who later helped stand Toronto St. Mikes on their collective heads, will not be much help to the Winnipeggers tonight.

"Red" came out of the first game with a broken bone in his left wrist and although he says himself he'll be playing tonight, it just doesn't seem possible that he can give much assistance to his team tonight.

Looks Like Calgary Stamps

DON SAID LAST NIGHT 13 X-RAY pictures had been taken during the day and that "they even wound up by shooting a couple of my right wrist just to get the exact location of some mysterious fifth bone."

However, "Red" has the right spirit and he's a great hockey player and the boy who is said to have waiting for him the biggest contract ever tendered a junior, may get into the game tonight but it will be with the assistance of a cast. Don, incidentally, is a third year electrical engineering student at the University of Manitoba. He graduates next year.

Clint Albright, second-year mechanical engineering under-graduate at Manitoba, will be here for tonight's game and so will coach Art Barnett, who missed the first. They were scheduled to arrive by plane during the night. But to be quite candid, it looks very much like Calgary Stampeders for three straight and a cinch bet that the Western Canada Hockey League winner will again represent the west in the Allan Cup final.

Lay Off Too Long

WINNIPEG FLYERS HAVEN'T PLAYED any hockey for 17 days until Thursday night and that looks like too long a lay off. On the other hand if Calgary wins tonight and Monday's game, which they should, they will have to loll around until April 26 for the Allan Cup final to commence. It appears there may have been a few lapses in the staff work of the CAHA in arranging playoff games.

Eddie Wares, just back from Chicago, says Bill Gadsby, former Edmonton Canadian junior, "is not going to be just a good player, but a great player." Eddie claims Bill has everything to make a top-notch defenceman and that he'll make the all-star NHL team in three years or less.

Wares also says "Gopher" Ashworth did exceptionally well and that Maurice Richard of the Canadiens is all and even more they say he is. Emile Francis is well liked in Chicago and the fans get a big bang out of young Emile's chatter and the way he tells off Hawk defenmen while play is in progress.

"Mac" To Do Some Scouting

MAC COLVILLE, NEWLY APPOINTED coach of the Vancouver Canucks returned home to Edmonton Friday, but he'll be attending the New York Ranger hockey school in Winnipeg and is due in the Manitoba capital next Monday. Coley Hall, manager of the Canucks and Ken McConnell of the Vancouver Province, also intend to take in the third Winnipeg-Calgary game on Monday.

Certain Manitoba and British Columbia sport writers were more than a trifle miffed today at the apparent partiality shown by room prowlers who during the night have a yen for the contents of pocket books of hotel guests.

Coley, however, says "it must be that Ken and Bill don't live right." Incidentally the "uninvited guests" in their hurry missed 11 century notes tucked away in a pocket belonging to the Canuck manager, Ken's room-mate.

Robinson Feels Sure He Will Make Good

By Joe Reichler

BROOKLYN, April 12 —(AP)— "I am on the spot and I know it. But I'm prepared for it. I am certain I can win them over in Brooklyn as I did in Montreal."

That was the observation today of Jackie Robinson—first negro ever to reach the major leagues in modern organized baseball.

The brilliant 28-year-old who bids fair to become a drawing card rivalling Bob Feller and Ted Williams, was still in a daze over the swiftly moving events which made him a Dodger yesterday.

"IT FEELS WONDERFUL to be a major leaguer, even if I haven't actually played in the big leagues yet." Robinson beamed. "I hope I can justify everybody's faith in me."

"Believe me, I fully realize what it means—my being given this wonderful opportunity to play in the big leagues—not only to me, but to my race and to baseball," said the sensitive player who was handpicked, by Branch Rickey, Brooklyn president, from Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro Baseball League 18 months ago.

The well-built athlete, whose work at bat and in the field with Montreal last year prompted the International League president Frank J. Shaughnessy, to acclaim him as "the greatest minor league player" did not care to predict how he would fare in the big time.

ROBINSON IS convinced he can break down the barrier of prejudice. "I know I am heading for trouble, especially in a couple of cities in the International League circuit," he said frankly, "possibly more than I encountered in the International League, but I know I can take it. I realize some players and fans will be trying to upset me and will have plenty of material, but I went through that in the minors and I am prepared to go through it again."

Star Suspended For One Contest And Fined $250

By Douglas Amaron

MONTREAL, April 12 — (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League Friday dampened the fuse on the Rocket clamping a one-game suspension and $250 fine on brilliant Maurice Richard who blew his top and possibly Montreal Canadiens' chance of winning the Stanley Cup in a fireworks display here Thursday night.

In swift disciplinary action following two stick-swinging incidents in which Richard injured two Toronto Maple Leafs players, Campbell fined and suspended the high scoring right winger and served warning of sterner action against any other truculent players in the Stanley Cup final between the Leafs and Canadiens.

Said Campbell:

"This punishment is not to be considered by any one as a guide for future action in such cases, and any recurrence of this type of conduct by any player in this series will result in a much more drastic penalty, including suspension extending into next season if necessary."

THE TWO CANADIAN rivals, meeting for the first time in a cup final, will clash again in Toronto tonight with both teams holding one victory in the best-of-seven games series. Canadiens won the first game 6-0 and Leafs took Thursday night's Donnybrook 4-0.

Before Campbell announced the suspension, Camil DesRoches, Canadiens' publicity officer, declared that Richard would have to miss tonight's game anyway because of torn knee ligaments received in a first period collision with Gus Mortson of the Leafs.

DESROCHES SAID Richard's injury became worse during the night and that when he came to the forum yesterday his knee was badly swollen and he had difficulty walking.

The Rocket continued playing after receiving the injury and his stick swinging, felling rookie Vic Lynn and Bill Ezinicki, came in the second period. Richard drew an automatic major penalty for cutting Lynn and a match penalty for downing Ezinicki.

Canadiens left for Toronto this afternoon and Richard, who spent 40 minutes closeted with Campbell Friday morning, accompanied them. Before seeing Richard and Senator Donat Raymond, Canadiens' president, Campbell conferred with Bill Chadwick who refereed the game.

REPORTS THURSDAY night that Canadiens might protest the Richard penalty failed to materialize and Campbell said the rule technicality on which it was believed Canadiens might base a protest did not apply in this case. He said Chadwick's ruling on the Rocket was correct.

Montreal sports writers moaned Canadiens' loss, but did not excuse Richard's actions although they admitted the Rocket has been a marked man all season and consequently has taken more than his share of bumps and spills.

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara wrote:

"WE HOLD NO BRIEF for any stick-swinging hockeyist no matter what his stature, nor do we care particularly for the type of hockey that Ezinicki displays most of the time. If not vicious, it is so tainted with meanness that it is inevitable he will meet up with players like Richard who are quick with a flick of the stick.

"Richard, a great player, let himself be tantalized into a type of retaliation which gives ammunition to those who maintain that the game is getting out of hand largely because of an official tolerance of that sort of thing. There was no official tolerance Thursday night. The shallow argument advanced that because Eziniki is a "menace to the game' as termed by some, does not justify head splitting as a means of curbing his activities."

KENNY REARDON WILL PLAY TONIGHT

MONTREAL, April 12 -(CP)— Defenceman Kenny Reardon of Montreal Canadiens, out of action in the first two games of the Stanley Cup final with an injured toe, took a brief whirl on skates Friday at the Forum and it was announced later that he would play in the third game against the Maple Leafs tonight in Toronto.

Centre John Quilty and winger Leo Gravelle also were out skating and Quilty, who missed the second game, will be back in action. Hockey followers felt that Gravelle being out for a skate might mean that he would replace Hub Macey for the third game. Macey appeared slow Thursday night against Leafs while Gravelle, dropped early in Canadiens' series against Boston, is a speed artist.

St. Joseph Pucksters Defeat Calgary Club

CALGARY, April 12 —(CP)— Edmonton's St. Joseph high school pucksters made good their challenge when they defeated Central High 6-5 in a fast hockey game played at Victoria Arena last night. Second game of the two-game total-goal series will be played at the arena Saturday afternoon, starting at 1:00 p.m.

Except for a brief spell in the first period, St. Joes out-played Central throughout and with a little more finish around the net, could have increased their winning margin handily.

The northerners led 2-1 at the end of the first but were outscored by the same count in the second and the clubs ended the frame all tied at 3-3. Central went one up at the 29 second mark of the final stanza but St. Joes came back strong to count three times to take a two goal lead. Central cut the margin with a smart goal just before the end of the session.

Phillips, Bradshaw and McNally paced the Edmonton attack with two goals each. Central's scoring was well divided with Moore, B. McDonald, Oughton, Rutter and Lougheed flicking the red light.

ST. JOSEPH — MacDougall; Martel, Dubrule; Galavan; McNally, Barry; subs: Phillips, Ego, Bradshaw, McDonald, Hrapinski, Dupins, Haley.

CENTRAL — Kapuschinski; Oughton, Simon; Rutter; Lougheed, Moore; subs: Gilhooley, Milner, B. MacDonald, E. MacDonald, Ross, McLean, Parker.

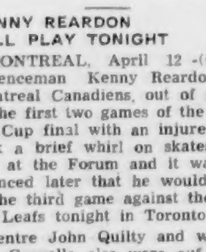

Officials—Kline and Trudell.

Granite to Complete Artificial Ice Project

Granite Curling Club will complete its artificial ice project this year.

At the annual meeting last night it was decided to add two sheets to the six which were installed last year. The club had eight sheets of ice last season, but two were natural.

The building will be stuccoed and renovated and plans were made for construction of the new clubrooms. The clubrooms will not necessarily be built this year, but officials believed they might the following season.

PRESIDENT SID EASTON was in the chair at the meeting, which was attended by approximately 100. Bruce Hamilton, president of the Alberta Curling Association, brought greetings from his organization, and Jim McCool, secretary of the ACA, described his trip to the Macdonald Brier classic. He outlined the plan for a high school Dominion playoff.

E. H. (NED) Rivers was elected president of the Granite Club, with W. R. Spencer first vice-president and W. S. Jones second vice-president. W. Fletcher was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Bert Robertson, Ted Walker and Con Ferguson comprise the new executive, with the remaining members being Harold Ritchie, Harold Gainor and Ernie Simpson.

Prizes were presented to the sectional winners by H. Wolfe. They are: section 1 and 3—H. Woodin (skip), W. Hutton, Dr. A. J. O'Neill and T. H. Magee; section 2—W. Coote (skip), Bob Muter, Don Eldridge and W. Pollock; section 4—Sid Easton (skip), E. S. Easton, H. Calder and John Wingrove.

Junior Basketball Continues Monday

Teams in the Junior Girls' Basketball League will resume activities on Monday evening at the McDougall Gym at 7:15 p.m. Each team has two more games to play before completing the schedule.

Wolves, currently leading the loop with four wins and one loss, will clash with the Bears in the opener and the second half of the double-header will see the Tigers battle with the Lions.

Although Wolves can remain at the top of the standings even though they lose their next game, the three-way tie for second place will certainly be broken.

With this goal before them all players in the junior hoop league are trying to make an impressive showing. In the scoring race the following players top the list:

Accuse Dick Irvin Richard Incident

TORONTO, April 12 -(CP) — The Richard affair had Toronto hockey fans by the ears Friday as the Maple Leafs returned home to prepare for the third game of their best-of-seven series with Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup. The series now is tied, 1-1.

Toronto sports writers wagged an accusing finger at an old friend, holding coach Dick Irvin of the Canadiens to blame for Richard swinging his stick at Toronto's Vic Lynn and Bill Ezinicki in Montreal Thursday night.

MANAGING DIRECTOR Conny Smythe of the Leafs made two points: 1. That Irvin ought to know better than to accuse referee Bill Chadwick of misrepresentation of the rules in imposing a match penalty on Richard for the attack on Ezinicki; 2. Recent incidents involving the Canadiens in New York and Boston indicate who is to blame for Thursday night's outburst.

From General Manager Frank Selke of the Canadiens, who arrived yesterday for his daughter's wedding today, came the statement that the Leafs were equally to blame for the incident "because they have on their club such a player as Ezinicki who looks for trouble."

Vancouver Takes Lead Hoop Final

VANCOUVER, April 12 — (CP) — Vancouver Meralomas, fighting to keep the national men's senior basketball crown in British Columbia, roared to a 68-55 victory over Winnipeg St. Andrew's in the opening game of a best-of-three series for the Western Canada championship here last night.

The game was played at breakneck speed for the first three quarters but slacked off slightly in the last period. Vancouver led 39-36 at the half.

Ole Bakken, six foot, five bucketman, sparked the Meralomas by potting 19 points through the hoop as the westerners fought to hold the Dominion crown, won by Victoria Dominoes last year, in British Columbia. Little Ron Weber was runner-up to Bakken in the point-getting department, shoving 14 counters in, 11 of them in the first half.

Jim Bullock, leading scorer of the Andies in season play, shared Winnipeg scoring honors with Roy Burkett—each netted an even dozen points.

Perowne, shooting the afternoon round in a three-over-par 75, defeated J. B. Stevenson, a tough spot golfer of long experience, 4 and 2, despite a strong, troublesome wind.

S. L. McKinley, a Glasgow internationalist, and Jimmy Rothwell of Accrington were regarded as the most likely Scottish candidates for the team that will meet the United States challenge next month.

Frank Boucher Recalls Thrill of '28 Series

This robust Stanley Cup final series between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs brings back memories to hockey masters of an earlier time, like the night in Montreal in 1928 when New York Rangers . . . But let one of those masters tell it . . .

By Frank Boucher

WINNIPEG, April 12 —(CP)—My greatest Stanley Cup thrill? We have to go back to 1928 for that one, to the night in Montreal when New York Rangers knocked back the old Maroons at the end of a best three-of-five series that went the full route.

That was New York Rangers' first Stanley Cup and here in Winnipeg where we are planning our hockey school for next fall and conducting a spring training camp there is no doubt in my mind that Rangers, who missed the NHL final this year will be back in there again soon.

BUT ABOUT THAT 1928 win. The final series was played at Montreal because there was no ice in New York so late in the season.

The series opened with a 2-0 victory for Maroons and Rangers dug in in the second game for a 2-1 triumph. Bill Cook scored the first goal on my assist and I sank the winner.

Then Maroons roared back and blanked us in the third game, 2-0. Rangers won the fourth 1-0 and the series was deadlocked. I scored the only goal of that game.

THE FIFTH AND final game of the series I will never forget. Maroons gave everything they had. Rangers did the same. It was the toughest game I ever played as Rangers won the Stanley Cup by taking that final, 2-1. I scored both goals.

Greatest Stanley Cup thrill? That was it and I was fortunate to be playing with the greatest team of hockey players of my career.

Boucher Seeking To Sign Raleigh

WINNIPEG, April 12 -(CP)— If Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers has his way, Don Raleigh, University of Manitoba student who plays for Winnipeg Flyers of the Manitoba Senior Hockey League, will line up with the Rangers or one of their farm clubs next year.

Boucher unburdened himself about Raleigh at the Rangers' spring training camp Friday. He'd like to talk to Raleigh and Clint Albright, also with Flyers and a University student, when they return from their western final with Calgary Stampeders. Both, however, have been wary so far of professional offers.

"If Raleigh and Albright want to turn pro, there's a place for them in our organization," he said.

Thieves Loot Pants Of Sports Writers

CALGARY, April 12 -(CP)— Sneak thieves who looted the pockets of two visiting sports writers missed several hundred dollars when they neglected to search the clothes of Coley Hall of Vancouver.

The thieves early Friday entered rooms in a downtown hotel and took $80 from the clothes of Ken McConnell of the Vancouver Province and $70 from Bill Good of the Winnipeg Tribune, both in Calgary for the western Canada senior hockey finals.

Hall's pants holding a wallet with several hundred dollars in cash were beside McConnell's but the thieves didn't touch Hall's clothes.

Robinson Bats In Three for Dodgers

BROOKLYN, April 12 -(AP)— Jackie Robinson, negro Brooklyn infielder, had the unique distinction of batting in three runs although he failed to hit safely in five trips to the plate in his major league debut Friday as his Dodger mates humbled New York Yankees 14-6 in the first of a three-game week-end exhibition series.

The flashy Montreal alumnus, trying desperately to answer the pleas of 24,237 Ebbets Field fans for a base knock, managed to connect solidly twice, flying out to deep left in the third and lining out to center in a wild 11-run fifth inning. Each time a man scored easily from third after the catch.

Robinson, batting twice in the big fifth, reached first on a fielder's choice his first time up. Tom Tatum, who had singled, scored on the play. In Jackie's other appearances, he flied to short centre in the first and was safe on an intended sacrifice in the seventh on an error by pitcher Spud Chandler.

At first base Jackie handled 14 easy chances flawlessly.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

Although Easter has come and gone, and summer activities are just around the next corner, there are some notable musical events still on the agenda. The next few days will witness some of the outstanding attractions of the entire season. Tomorrow, final contestants in the Birks Musical Awards vie for top honors. Next Wednesday to Saturday inclusive, the Edmonton Civic Opera society will produce "The Prince of Pilsen" at the Strand theatre, and also on Wednesday night Zonia Lazarowich, Edmonton violinist, will appear in recital at McDougall United church, under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. These three events promise to be highly popular and undoubtedly will be among the most popular attractions of the entire season. Then, interest will swing to the Alberta musical festival, in the third week of May, after which students will turn their attention to various examinations.

John Oliver

The Birks Musical Awards program will be held at the Garneau theatre. This competition commenced last October and originations took place at Heintzman and Company's store, and radio station CJCA. Each Sunday, three contestants have been heard and from 62 who faced the microphone, nine were selected as semi-finalists. From the nine, three won places in the final.

Now, all is in readiness for the conclusion. Starting at 4:00 p.m. tomorrow, there will be a half-hour concert, to be heard in the theatre only, by the six semi-finalists who remained in that stage. At 4:30 p.m., the regular time of the Birks broadcast, the three finalists will be heard and the program will be on the air. Before the program is over the three finalists, on the basis of their performance at that time, will be placed in order of merit. Then the winner of the grand prize will reappear for a final number.

L. S. Nelson, manager of Birks' store will be on the stage to present prizes to the winners, and there will be some other ceremonies. So here should be a good hour of entertainment, and as has been the case throughout the series, the public will be welcome, but those attending should be seated at the theatre by 4:00 p.m.

Zonia Lazarowich, Edmonton violinist, will play the following program at McDougall United church, commencing at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday: Intrada, Desplanes, arranged Nachez; Presto, Tartini-Bridgewater; Concerto in G Minor, Bruch; La Folia, theme and variations, Corelli; La Gitana, Kreisler; Slavonic Dance No. 2, Dvorak-Kreisler; two Ukrainian folk melodies, Vesniwka (Spring Flower) Matiuk, and Kozachok, Pridatkavich; Serenite, Vieuxtemps; Hark, Hark the Lark, Schubert-Spalding. Nelda Faulkner, widely-known city pianist, will be at the piano.

Miss Lazarowich studied for several years with well known Edmonton teachers, prior to continuing her work at Winnipeg. She is contemplating going to London for final studies next fall.

At 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, at the Strand theatre, the curtain will go up on the premiere of the Edmonton Civic Opera society's production of "The Prince of Pilsen." Repeat performances will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with matinee Saturday. Although it has been played hundreds of times on both sides of the Atlantic, this sparkling musical comedy never has been shown here before, either by professionals or amateurs.

Mrs. James B. Carmichael, musical director, reports all is in readiness, and her sentiments have been echoed by her first lieutenants, Mrs. Imelda Pepin-Olsen, chorus director; Charles F. Sweetlove, dramatic director and Mrs. Marion Kinney Rouse, choreographer. And from each and every member of the company comes a hearty, "hear, hear."

Last week it was herein stated that if all went well, some information on "The Prince of Pilsen" and its authors would be forthcoming.

It is a musical comedy in two acts. The book and lyrics are by Frank Pixley and the music by Gustav Luders. It was first produced at Boston in 1902 and soon after in New York. On May 11, 1904 it was produced at the Shaftesbury theatre, London. It has been played professionally and by amateurs many times and, its last New York revival was at the Jolson theatre, Jan. 14, 1930.

"The Prince of Pilsen" belongs to that fabulous era 1900 to 1914 when the world enjoyed a period of prosperity and happiness seldom equalled in history. There was fun, music and theatres everywhere. In Vienna, Franz Lehar had set the world a-waltzing as never before with his "Merry Widow" and other operettas. In England, Lionel Monckton, Ivan Caryll, Paul Rubens, Howard Talbot and Edward German were carrying on from the point where Sullivan left off. In the United States, the great Victor Herbert strode Broadway like a colossus, and Reginald de Koven, Karl Hoschna, Gustav Luders and others were turning out memorable melodies.

Laurier Picard, who will play the leading comedy role of Hans Wagner, in the Edmonton Civic Opera Society production of "The Prince of Pilsen" at the Strand theatre, next Wednesday to Saturday inclusive.

And into this gay picture came "The Prince of Pilsen."

Luders was born in Westphalia, Germany, in 1866, and as a young man went to the United States, possessing little more than a great talent and a well grounded musical education. He drifted past New York and got as far west as Milwaukee, where he was engaged as musical director of a light opera company.

In 1899 he moved to Chicago and functioned as musical director of several shows. The music publishing firm of Witmark had a branch in Chicago and the manager, Frank Witmark called on Luders as an arranger. On the early copies of that old time favorite of the "Gay Nineties," entitled My Gal is a High Born Lady, the name of Gustav Luders appeared as the arranger.

But soon he met a brilliant Chicago newspaperman, Frank Pixley. They found they had kinderd interests and together they decided to write a musical comedy. Their first work, produced at Chicago in 1900 was "The Burgomaster." Its success was so great that a New York production followed soon after. And Luders transferred to New York along with the show.

Along Broadway "The Burgomaster" was such a success that the newly-formed writing team of Pixley and Luders was inundated with commissions and to the credit of both, a gallant effort was made to keep pace with the commissions. Next came "King Dodo" in which Raymond Hitchcock made a tremendous success.

"The Prince of Pilsen" set the writers on a new peak, and two companies were kept busy playing the show. John W. Ransome headed the original and Jess Dandy the second. Anyone who ever heard either Ransome or Dandy say the famous line "Vass you ever in Cincinnatti?" never failed to get a hearty laugh out of it.

Pixley and Luders also wrote "The Grand Mogul," "The Sho-Gun," "Woodland" and "Marcelle." After Pixley's death, Luders teamed up with inimitable wag and wit, George Ade, and together they wrote "The Fair Co-Ed" in which Elsie Janis starred, "The Old Town" and "Marcelle." "The Fair Co-Ed" incidentally contains some of Luders' best music.

At the end of a long and successful career, Luders, high-strung and temperamental, yet gentle and possessed of many friends, died of a broken heart. His last show, which appeared all set for another great success drew a bad "panning" from the critics, supposedly on account of an aversion Broadway had for his new librettist, the late Avery Hapwood. Anyhow, the producer, who happened to have been taken ill, became alarmed and ordered the show closed after three performances. The shock was too much for Luders. The next morning, Jan. 27, 1913, he was found dead in his bed, of a heart attack.

L. S. Nelson, manager of Henry Birks and Sons Edmonton store, who will present prizes won on the Birks Musical Awards, at a special program in the Garneau theatre at 4:00 p.m. Sunday. At 4:30 the program will go on the air over CJCA.

But Luders, through his music which reflected his nature: tuneful, bright and gay, lives on. He was a thorough musician, arranged and orchestrated his own music and frequently appeared to conduct his shows.

And of all these shows, none is more tuneful than "The Prince of Pilsen."

MEN-O'-WAR LITTER SHORE

Portuguese men-o'-war — free floating sea animals—driven before the wind like miniature Spanish galleons — recently littered the shores of South Africa near Capetown. The "blue bottles," as they are commonly known, stung many beach visitors unfamiliar with this dangerous denizen of the deep.

Dialogue

"Eight cent candy bars," my wife said over the newspaper with an unladylike snort. "That is just lovely. Well, Buster you can just start revising the budget again. Put another dime on your daughter's allowance."

"If I had another dime I'd buy some flints for my lighter."

"You had 15 cents when you went to work this morning."

"I know. I took Ingrid Bergman to lunch. Let's just not talk about it. You always lose your temper."

"Somebody's got to talk about it, prune-face. We're about to starve to death. Take a look at these things off price control. Motor vehicles, coal, coke, fuel wood, footwear. . ."

"Were not alone, sweetheart. Everybody's in the same boat."

". . . turkey, ducks, geese, sausage, cocoa beans, wools and . . ."

"I never eat cocoa beans. I wouldn't know what a cocoa bean looks like."

". . . chemicals and plastics, cooking ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, sewing machines . . ."

"What chemicals do we use? We haven't had a chemical in the house for years."

"Laugh, clown, laugh. When are you going to wake up and find out that we can't live on this kind of money?"

"Don't wake me up. Let me dream."

That Level

My wife was silent for awhile then she said, "seriously, something's got to be done. You'll have to ask the paper for more money."

"I make more than I'm worth now."

"I know, but candy bars aren't worth eight cents, either. Money isn't the same as it used to be."

"How can you tell when you haven't seen any for so long?"

"I bought two bunches of little green onions at the store today. There were 6 onions to a bunch. Guess what. Twenty cents, if you please."

"I know, I know. Murder. But after all, the government had to drop the controls. They had to let prices find their own level. It says so right in the paper."

"The government doesn't buy onions or pork chops or rent a house."

"Maybe we're just poor managers. After all, the Old Age pensioners manage on $30 a month."

"Don't be silly. I don't know any old pensioners, but I know you can't live like a human being on that. Thirty dollars is barely enough to buy food for one per-

CNR Is Planning Rock Ballasting

Rock ballasting on main Canadian National Railways lines in the west, permitting higher speeds with greater safety, will commence east of Edmonton this summer, W. C. Owens, general manager of CNR Western Lines, announced here Saturday.

ROCK BALLAST, Mr. Owens explained, entails an eight-inch layer of crushed rock over the usual gravel ballast. It is usually not undertaken until a road has been in operation about 50 years.

It makes for a more firmly anchored roadbed, free from dust caused by traffic and makes of the roadbed a more permanent ballast unaffected by weather.

First rock ballasting in the west will be done east of Wainwright on the main line. The rock will be taken from Kinsella and other pits and crushed at the pits.

This will be the first rock ballasting west of Winnipeg on CNR lines.

It is hoped to get all the western wheat in storage moved before the new crop is harvested next fall. The boxcar situation is now greatly improved and grain is moving steadily to ports.

Mr. Owens, who is on a periodical inspection tour of western lines, arrived here from Calgary and plans to leave this evening for Vancouver. Extensions to the CNR station here are proceeding satisfactorily.

Team Brings $610 At Calgary Show

CALGARY, April 12—(CP)— A team of seal brown percherons owned by Stan Milan of Three Hills topped Calgary's annual spring horse sale when they were sold for $610. The buyer was Alec Picov of Pickering, Ont.

DESPITE THE fact that a lot of horses of poor quality went through the sales ring there were enough well fitted horses to maintain the price, with 1,057 head bringing a total of $89,937.50 for an average of $78.32.

Last year the average was a few cents short of $70.

The Milan team which brought the high price of the sale was purchased at the 1946 sale for $170. Mr. Milan took the team to his Three Hills farm, worked them during the summer and then fitted them during the winter for resale.

The price on the basis of $305 per animal was $65 short of the price of $370 paid for a light horse sale earlier.

AROUND HOME

Your Baby and Mine

By Mildred Meyer Eldred

This is the time of year when parents are wondering whether they should or should not send their children to camp. No doubt, in an all-season camp, the child has been enrolled for several months. But is is not too late to plan for camps with a two or three week camping period which are managed by the various character-building organizations, the Y. W and Y. M. C. A. groups, the Camp-fire and the Boy and Girl Scout groups, in addition to others which may be privately sponsored and supported.

Mothers often are concerned with giving the child a nice vacation without a conception of the real values of camping for children from eight years and upward.

Naturally, it is a fine experience for a child to be associated with children of his own age and interests; to be physically active from morning until night so that sleep at the end of the day is a sweet privilege; and to be fed right down to the bottoms of those hollow legs.

But, camping is more than that. It is a beautifully organized plan for helping children to loosen the parental apron strings and to be happy in an environment other than the home.

It offers an invaluable opportunity for living with and learning to get along with groups of children. The foundation of a happy, wholesome personality is this capacity to adjust to other people and to be accepted by them.

Children learn new skills while at the same time developing resourcefulness, initiative and self-reliance.

To many children nature may have seemed to be just the outdoor environment, now it takes on new faces of wonder and beauty and they learn appreciation of them.

Camp is an adventure for children in an ideal setting divorced from real danger. In our urban environment all the adventures most children get are vicarious ones by way of hair-raising movie and radio programs.

The child who can accommodate himself to separation from his parents, who learns to be happily cooperative and thick-skinned enough to take childish teasing and pranks with good humor, has gained permanent stature as an individual and the results of his experiences will remain with him throughout life.

"Help to be Had From Books," is a leaflet containing a list of all types of reading material suited to all of the parents needs. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 78 to Myrtle Eldred Meyer in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

REGULAR MEETING

The regularly monthly meeting of the Allendale Home and School Association will be held Monday evening, at 8 p.m. sharp.

Why Grow Old?

A lovely complexion like Actress Penny Edwards' is won by proper facial care at an early age when oil glands are apt to cause blackheads and pimples.

By Josephine Lowman

Skin blemishes are certainly varied and harassing to the feminine half of the world. Even men struggle with blackheads and pimples and enlarged pores, although we do not seem to demand such perfection in the masculine skin.

I suppose the greatest problem is the blackhead. These certainly do detract from beauty! Blackheads are the most apt to occur in the oily skin, and at adolescense. During puberty the oil glands are more active than usual, and the foundation for a blemished skin in adult life is often laid at this time. If the young girl can just weather the early teen-age years without permanent damage to her complexion, with reasonably good care, she can expect little trouble from then on.

If you have an abnormally oily skin, or are an adolescent boy or girl, you should take immediate preventive measures. Wash your face several times daily with soap and water. If you skin is very oily, fives times a day is not too much, and you should, by all means, manage three times: night, morning, and midafternoon. Also use drying lotion on your face at night.

If blackheads are already present, try using a complexion brush along with your soap and water. Use this with a rotary motion. Sometimes this method will discourage the small blackheads, and even remove some of them. If not, open the pores by steaming the face over a bowl of hot water. Then very gently, press the blackheads out with your fingers or with one of the little blackhead removers. Great care should be taken to avoid bruising the tissues. Infection is also a threat.

Many pimples are created through an unwise attempt to remove blackheads. If you use a remover it should be sterilized first, and if you use your fingers, you should place sterilized cotton gauze over your fingers, and in any event, apply alcohol after removal of blackheads.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 48 "Clear The Way For Beauty," (about blackheads, pimples, moles and freckles) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

By DOROTHY DIX

Interest in Others Causes Jealousy

Probably more crimes are committed in the name of love than for any other reason. Oscar Wilde wrote that all men kill the thing they call love and while this is poetic license, it is only too sadly true that distorted love causes more unhappiness in the world than hate.

A familiar and gruesome illustration of this is found in the many husband and wife murders that are continually taking place. A married couple may have been so antagonistic that they lived a cat-and-dog life and made each other perfectly miserable. They may have even been parted for years. But let either one show some interest in some other man or woman, and only too often the cinders of the old love flame into passion or jealousy and we read in the papers of the slaying of another husband or wife.

MEN RARELY kill women except for love. Seldom do women kill men except for love. And the curious thing about it is that when they are driven to taking a human life, their love and hate have become so mixed that they cannot distinguish between them. To this column come daily a never-ending stream of letters from both husbands and wives telling of their grievinces against their mates and how mistreated they are, yet nine out of ten will end up by saying: "I love him," or "her" still." So strange a thing is the human heart.

Far removed from the tragedies of love, yet perhaps in the same key, is the fact that although we know that love is our most precious posession it is the thing we do least to preserve. We would not kill love, yet we starve it to death, and we treat those we love with less consideration than we do our most deadly enemy. We do not feel that we have time to spare the feelings of the members of our own families and it is only after they are dead that we whisper into deaf ears the love and admiration we have had for them.

MANY WOMEN make love an alibi for exercising a tyranny over their families that crushes all of the joy of life out of them and that makes their homes as much a place of torment as any concentration camp. They nag their husbands until they break their spirits and turn them into stooges. Their children never know a breath of freedom until they break away from Mother, as they do at the first opportunity.

And these slave-driving women account their oppressions unto themselves for righteousness. They boast that they love their husbands so well that they supervise all of their rising up and sitting downs. They brag that they never let their John go out at night because he needs the rest. They never permit him to eat the food he likes because it is bad for his stomach. They pick out all his clothes and drive all of his old friends away because they are a bad influence. And they consider that they are superior mothers because they are so devoted to their daughters that they never let them have a beau until they are old maids, and even then Mother selects their clothes for them, because Mother always knows best.

And the real culprit in the juvenile delinquency problem is the too loving mother, who is too tender to ever make her youngsters behave. She can't bear to deny them anything, so she lets them make themselves sick eating too much cake. She hasn't enough backbone to make them do anything they don't want to do, so they grow up selfish, idle, no accounts who cumber the world. Practically every derelict had a too loving mother.

Love is a great and curious thing. It is our greatest blessing and our greatest curse.

son. It costs us $10 a month for dog food."

"This is a great time for Annie to foal."

"Anyway, everybody seems to be just as broke as us. Mrs. Adams had to borrow 25 cents from me yesterday to get her husband on the bus."

"Yeah? Where did you get 25 cents?"

"I've been saving it toward a chinchilla coat."

"When I was eleven years old my father used to give me 50 cents a month. I had more spending money in my Fox serge knickers than I've got now."

"And the paper says jams, jellies and marmalades are up 10 percent."

The 'Why'

My wife thought it over awhile. Then she said, "Why don't they have some people in Ottawa who could figure out the increase in the cost of living, then order the employers to increase the wages on the same percentage?"

"Wouldn't work. Then the prices would go even higher and finally it would be like China where you pay a million dollars for a cigarette."

"Why did that happen?"

"Well, they didn't have controls on prices. You know, inflation. Very bad stuff."

"Sort of like what we have now?"

"Oh, dear, no. This is just adjustment to get back to the Canadian way of life under free enterprise. Everything will straighten itself out."

"When?"

"Oh, in due course. Don't rush it."

"I'm not rushing it. The government is rushing it. How can rents find a level when there's a housing shortage? How can we keep on living when the price adjustment is never anything but higher? How can we patch our budget at the end of this month when we find it costs us $10 more to live than it did last month?"

"Don't ask me, sugar. All the editorials say it will work out all right. I guess editorial writers have to budget, too."

"Well, anyway, Mrs. Adams and I think it's rotten and we're getting darn tired of borrowing quarters from each other all month."

"Just be patient, kiddo."

"Oh, sure."

"And one other thing."

"Yes?"

"We'd better get along without onions for awhile."

LEDUC-WEST OIL COMPANY LTD.
Shares at Present Price: 25c Per Share
(Initial Issue—600,000 shares)

We do so in the belief that the successful completion of the 3 Imperial Oil Co. wells now drilling in the Leduc area should create a strong demand for these shares, due to the 3 choice ¼ sections in which Leduc-West Oil Co. Ltd. owns a one half interest, one ¼ section being only about 1 mile Northwest of Imperial-Leduc No. 3.

A Drilling Contract is expected to be let within a few days; and, upon completion of present financing, application will be made for listing the shares.

However the company's acreage cannot yet be regarded as being in a proven field and consequently an investment in these shares must be regarded as speculative.

A sample bottle of oil from Imperial-Leduc No. 1 well may be seen at our office.

Requests for further particulars will receive prompt attention.

A DROP OR TWO

THE Teenie Weenies use mighty little machine oil. A quarter of a thimbleful will last the little people nearly the whole year. The Old Soldier with a wooden leg is very particular about having all Teenie Weenie tools coated with oil when they are not in use so they will not rust, and a drop now and then is used for Teenie Weenie drills and for sharpening fine edged Teenie Weenie tools.

The Teenie Weenie cart has to be oiled quite often and that takes considerable oil, for the lead pencil, which is the cart axle, needs greasing to keep the wooden wheels from squeaking. The cart is hard to pull when the axle needs oil and the mice who are used to pull the cart complain bitterly when that happens. The cart began to squeak lately and the mice positively refused to pull it until it was oiled, but the Teenie Weenies hadn't a drop of oil in the village.

Some of the men went to the lane that passes near the village hoping to find a few drops of oil that had dropped from some parked auto, but the lane is not paved and what little oil had dripped from the cars had soaked into the ground.

One morning the Turk announced that he was going over to Uncle Jimmy's shop and search for some oil there. Uncle Jimmy's shop stands on the lane not far fron the Teenie Weenie village and, as it was a nice day, most of the little folks agreed to go along for the walk. When they arrived at the shop they found that Uncle Jimmy had gone away and they quickly crawled through the crack under the door.

The only oil they found was in a big oil can which was much too heavy for the little folks to handle.

"If we had a ladder we could get oil out of the can with a broom straw," suggested the Turk. "From the top of the ladder we could push the straw down into the oil and then pull it out and scrape off the oil that stuck to it into the bucket."

The Cowboy and the Turk ran back to the village for the longest Teenie Weenie adder while several other Teenie Weenies pulled a long straw from Uncle Jimmy's broom. The Sailor tied a bit of thread around the bottom of the straw so the oil would not all drip off when it was pulled out of the can. When the ladder arrived the Cook climbed up and soon began drawing the oil out of the can. He had to push the straw down into the can a great many times in order to get enough oil to fill the cherry seed bucket they had brought along.

It was a lot of work for so little oil, but all the Teenie Weenies had a pleasant time.
